SLAIN AGENT'S BROTHER AN OMAHA FBI MAN . . .

Shade Gap Sniper Surrounded

Shade Gap, Pa. (AP)—Police formed a ring of armed men around an eight-mile perimeter of wooded mountain country early Wednesday to prevent the slayer of an FBI agent and kidapper of a 17-year-old girl from escaping into the darkness.

Gov. William Scranton's press secretary, Jack Conmy, said authorities, anxious to protect the girl, decided to wait until dawn to start tightening the circle on the hunted man and his captive.

By then, Conmy said, at least 625 state policemen, FBI agents and National Guardsmen were to be on the scene.

Dogs Airsick

By then, too, the pack of German shepherd tracking dogs flown here from Arkansas may be ready to start leading the search. Conmy said the flight made the dogs airsick and unable to track when they arrived.

While state police and FBI agents inched toward their prey, the FBI identified the sniper as William Diller Hollenbaugh, a 44-year-old former mental patient who lives in a cabin about eight miles south of this rural central Pennsylvania community.

Agent Terry Ray Anderson, 42, married and the father of four children, was killed by a single shot from a rifle as he and other lawmen pushed the search for Peggy Ann Bradnick.

The FBI charged Hollenbaugh, who has served 5 to 10 years on three counts of burglary in Western State Penitentiary, with murder.

HOLLENBAUGH . . . sought.

PEGGY . . . kidnaped.

ANDERSON . . . slain.

Combing Area

State Police Maj. Frank McKetta said Anderson was killed as he and another FBI agent and three state policemen combed a rocky area near Hollenbaugh's cabin.

"The shots came out of nowhere," said McKetta. "Anderson and two tracking dogs were killed and a third dog wounded."

Anderson apparently was shot while with other lawmen investigating Hollenbaugh's cabin after receiving an unofficial report the kidnaped girl was there. An FBI spokesman said agents, led by dogs, went to the cabin and where in the process of bringing up reserves when the shooting started. He said the dogs were the first to be hit, then Anderson.

Immediately after the killing, state police and FBI agents from every station within a 200-mile radius were rushed to the scene. They surrounded the sniper and the girl who were holed up in what might be described as a cave in the wooded, rock-strewn area.

Conmy said the search pattern approximated a circle five miles in diameter with the center the location where the sniper ana the girl last were seen.

"That man knows the area like the back of his hand," Conmy said.

Conmy also earlier had spoken of an empty cabin in the deep woods he said state police had staked out for two days. He said police were suspicious because the occupant had been missing since the abduction.

There was no indication whether Hollenbaugh could be the mysterious mountain man who has terrorized this area almost two years. He was spotted Tuesday with the girl, alive and apparently well, about half an hour after Anderson was slain.

The phantom sniper, or mountain man, is someone who for two years has been molesting women. In one case he shot a woman in the arm and foot.

The slain agent, Anderson, entered the FBI at Cincinnati in January 1951 and was transfered to Philadelphia in 1952. Eight years later he became senior resident agent in Harrisburg.

A resident of Camp Hill, near Harrisburg, he is survived by the children and his widow, Margery Marie. His brother, John, is an FBI agent at Omaha. Anderson was a native of Washington, Iowa. His widowed mother now lives in Des Moines.

It is a federal crime—punishable by death — to kill an FBI agent. Anderson is the 20th agent killed in line of duty since April 1957.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington the "full resources of the FBI are being thrown into the investigation, and solution of this savage killing, and no stone will be left unturned until the guilty party is located and apprehended."

Penal Complex Faces Shortage

. . . GUARDS MAY LOSE RAISE

The Nebraska Penal Complex will have a budget shortage of about $200,000 by the end of the current biennium unless the 1967 Legislature makes adjustments, Warden Maurice Sigler said Tuesday.

He said the 1965-67 cash income of the complex, estimated at $825,000 by the 1965 Legislature's Budget Committee, actually will total only slightly more than $600,000.

Sigler said the money problem results from a reduction in the complex's outside work force and crop program and an over-estimate of cash income by the Department of Public Institutions as well as the budget committee.

The warden said the complex budget is so tight that it will be impossible to compensate for the cash fund shortage through "internal adjustments" or cuts in programs and services.

Unless the problem is solved by the 1967 Legislature, pay raises for penitentiary guards scheduled to go into effect July 1 will have to be eliminated, Sigler said.

All cash income is deposited in the state's general fund and money would have to be diverted from the salary program to the cash fund to make up the shortage, Sigler said.

"My main concern is that the guards get increased salaries," said Sigler. "We feel they're long overdue."

A new pay schedule for guards, calling for among other things an increase in the minimum salary from $309 to $350 monthly, was authorized by the last Legislature.

The main factor contributing to miscalculation of the cash income was an unexpected reduction in inmate population at the penitentiary and men's reformatory, from 1,365 inmates in January, 1964, to the present count of 1,104, Sigler said.

Work Details

Consequently, income-producing work details at the Beatrice State Home, Grand Island Soldiers and Sailors Home, Hastings State Hospital and State Capitol had to be eliminated, he said.

Sigler said only a 24-man work detail continues to operate, at the Norfolk State Hospital, whereas the outside work force used to average between 80 and 100 inmates.

"The cash fund income is pretty hard to estimate accurately because there are so many variables," Sigler said, "but frankly I don't feel we should have come up with a $200,000 error."

16-Year-Old Electrocuted Hanging Sign

Johnnie Lee Knadle, 16, of 1044 No. 51st, was electrocuted Tuesday while hanging a sign in the exposition building at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds.

Knadle, an employe of Gold's of Nebraska, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Knadle.

According to the Lancaster County sheriff's office, the youth received an electric jolt when his leg came in contact with a neon light fixture, and he was thrown off a beam and onto a truck some 12 feet below.

Efforts to revive Knadle by artificial respiration failed and he was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Morrison Waiting For Court Decision

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Tuesday it would be "premature" for him to call a special session of the Legislature before the Nebraska Supreme Court disposes of a motion for rehearing in the key intangible tax case.

However, Morrison said he wouldn't delay his decision to a point where call of a special session would be impossible or impractical.

The governor referred to the request for reconsideration of the court's ruling which said foreign corporation stock owned by Nebraska must be taxed at book instead of the higher market value.

The Omaha plaintiffs in the original action have asked for rehearing, contending that foreign corporation stock should be valued for tax purposes like Nebraska-based or domestic corporation stock.

The formula used to value Nebraska corporation stock is designed to give those shares little, if any taxable, value.

Morrison said a special session is "unavoidable" if the high court maintains that corporate stock must be taxed at book value.

The Democratic chief executive emphasized that the intangible tax situation would be the only justification for a special session.

He said other problems, like the University of Nebraska financial deficit and tax limit problem of the City of Lincoln stemming from the Supreme Court ruling on intangibles, would be included only if a special session is called because of the intangible tax problem.

Morrison, who said earlier he will make his decision by the end of May, reiterated he plans some definite pronouncement at that time.

Convention Presents Stern Test For Guard Motor Pool

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Omaha — Seldom has the Nebraska National Guard had a busier motor pool!

"We're running seven buses, 33 sedans, and 11 pickups and have 46 people operating them," declared Col. Edward C. Binder.

The Lincolnite, state guard maintenance officer, is in charge of arranging transportation for the approximately 350 National Guard had a busier motor pool. annual Adjutants General Association convention here this week.

'So Far, So Good'

"So far, so good," sighed the colonel during a respite. "We haven't knowingly left anybody stranded."

Organized during the last month, the transportation pool went into action Sunday, ferrying the arriving officers to the Sheraton-Fontanelle Hotel from their airport arrival points.

The job will be continuous as dignitaries arrive and depart during the four-day meeting, and it will reach another peak Thursday when most again leave for home.

Officers On Duty

Behind the desk set up in the hotel mezzanine are two boards — a blackboard on which are posted reminders of VIP arrivals and another board noting vehicles available and in use. Two officers are on duty at all times, making lists of the transport needs of delegates.

"We have a radio here and at the armory (where drivers spend a little "off" time), motor pool and some in the cars," Col. Binder pointed out.

Even the Guard wasn't able to release enough vehicles to answer the demand; several were donated by the Omaha New Car Dealers Assn. The drivers are Guard maintenance personnel.

Buses Busy Too

The buses, more easily controlled, are used to carry the visitors and their wives on scheduled side trips to SAC headquarters, AkSarBen Race Track, Lincoln and other engagements in Omaha.

The Nebraska guardsmen have been at work for the past year making the multitude of preparations necessary for hosting the associations' first meeting in the state.

With everything going off according to blueprint, Nebraska Adjutant General Lyle Welch commented, "The staff cooperation on this has been outstanding."

ELITE FORCE STANDING BY

. . . Dissidents Roll Into Da Nang

Saigon (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, whose military government has been accused by the Buddhist leadership of treason and murder, left Saigon Wednesday, apparently to tour the restive northern provinces. He was accompanied by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, deputy premier, and Maj. Gen. Cao Van Vien, chief of staff.

Ky Tuesday alerted elite troops to stand by in case of Buddhist rioting in Saigon.

The crack 7th Vietnamese Infantry Division was put on the alert and two battalions—1,000 men—were reported already moving toward the capital from the south.

Buddhist monks in Saigon's main pagoda announced they planned to start a 48-hour hunger strike Thursday.

In the 1st Corps area—the five northern provinces—Maj. Gen. Huynh Van Cao, the new commander, urged dissidents to cease their struggle otherwise, he said, they will be considered criminals.

To Keep Power

Thus the government prepared to retain power in spite of Buddhist defiance and the threat of civil war.

The northern centers of defiance are Da Nang and Hue.

A convoy of 20 trucks brought an estimated 500 dissident troops of the Vietnamese 1st Division into Da Nang Wednesday. The men carried their rifles and were also armed with light and heavy machine guns.

The convoy drove to the Tinh Hoi Pagoda, one of three Buddhist pagodas where anti-government forces are collected. Some 2,000 civilians and several hundred soldiers in the pagoda cheered.

The convoy was headed by two truckloads of rangers, the eltie of the Vietnamese army.

Near Loyalists

The new arrivals took up positions in the area around the pagoda. They were within half a block of some of the 2,500 marines and paratroopers flown to Dan Nang Sunday by the government, but there was no immediate fighting.

Ky meanwhile arrived at 1st Corps headquarters on the outskirts of Da Nang and in a brief ceremony invested Gen. Cao with his new command.

Underlining U.S. support for the military government, three U.S. Marine generals stationed at Da Nang were on hand for the ceremony. They were Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the Marine commander for Viet Nam; Brig. Gen. Jonas Platt, Walt's chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Louis B. Robertshaw, commander of the 3rd Marine Air Wing.

Appeal to Quang

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said President Johnson has appealed to Thich Tri Quang, dissident Buddhist leader, to settle disputes and unite in a common anti-Red effort.

Johnson's message replied to a plea from Quang for U.S. support.

Worried American officials urged the government to put a speedy end to the strife.

Acting U.S. Ambassador William Porter conferred with Ky. No official statement was made, but informed sources said Porter demanded that the United States be kept informed of all future moves by the junta.

Ky acted in secrecy when he sent 2,500 troops Sunday to put down dissidence in the north.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, heading back to South Viet Nam after a week of conferences in Washington, told newsmen there: "There will be no change in policy, but we will attempt to perfect, enrich and improve all our programs there."

A shooting in Hue and another in Da Nang marred the uneasy calm in the north, a hotbed of agitation ever since the government dismissed Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi as commander and virtual overlord of the 1st Corps area March 10.

Viet Shoots

A Vietnamese officer fired two pistol shots at a helicopter taking off with Gen. Cao and two U.S. officers — Brig. Gen. Jonas M. Platt and Col. A. L. Hamblem — after they had paid a 90-minute call on military authorities in Hue.

An American gunner returned the fire, killing the officer. Six other Vietnamese were wounded. The official party flew back to Da Nang.

'Fierce' Delta Fight Leaves 132 Reds Dead

Saigon (AP)—A strong Vietnamese force has killed 132 Viet Cong in "a fierce encounter" in the Meking Delta, a Vietnamese military spokesman reported Wednesday.

He said an additional 100 enemy troops were killed by air attacks in the battle late Tuesday and early Wednesday.

In the central highlands, fast-moving American cavalrymen routed a North Vietnamese battalion Tuesday and the U.S. commander, Maj. John K. Norton of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, declared, "We're going after them."

In the Mekong fighting, the Vietnamese spokesman made no estimate of Viet Cong strength but said the government force was multi-battalion size.

The North Vietnamese force of 350 or more pulled out of entrenched positions 15 miles west of An Khe, 250 miles northeast of Saigon, and retreated into the mountains after helicopters lifted in three battalions of cavalry reinforcements.

A division officer at the scene estimated that 85 Reds were killed in the opening six-hour clash Monday. American losses were moderate.

U.S. pilots flew only 17 missions north of the 17th Parallel Monday, the smallest number of strikes in recent weeks.

However, Air Force B52 bombers, which can fly above the weather, pounded a Viet Cong troop area Tuesday for the third time in three days. The B52s dumped tons of explosives on the enemy area, 70 miles north of Saigon and close to the border of Cambodia.

Settlement Reached In Strike By Carpenters

Striking Carpenters Local 1055 and the Building Construction Employers Association reached agreement in their labor dispute Tuesday afternoon, according to John H. Miller, president of the BCEA.

The strike started April 1.

Miller said the carpenters' union finally removed their demands for a foreman's clause and a sub-contractor's clause and this led to the settlement.

"The wage and fringe benefit offer accepted by the carpenters today was the same offer presented to them on April 21, nearly four weeks ago," Miller said.

The package calls for a wage and fringe benefit increase to $4 125 per hour effective immediately, and succeeding increases to $4.325 per hour on April 1, 1967, and to $4.525 per hour on April 1, 1968. The contract will expire on April 1, 1969.

The carpenters advised the contractors they would report to work on their construction jobs at once.

Seven of the original nine unions have now settled with only the bricklayers and cement masons still on strike. According to Miller, mediators were expected to get a settlement "in the next few days" from the two unions.

Miller added, "I wish to congratulate the union committee on its willingness to remove the sub-contractor's clause and the foreman's clause in a sincere effort to resolve this dispute".

Short Cuts Sought After Space Fizzle

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — U.S. space officials — stung by Tuesday's failure to orbit a target for the Gemini 9 spacecraft — searched for short cuts to make up for the time lost to the vital program to train Americans for their landing on the moon.

The three-week postponement of the Gemini 9 could be cut—perhaps by a week—if the launch complex can be cleaned up quickly and another Atlas rocket can be checked out to make sure it does not fail again.

It was the Atlas that failed Tuesday—its swiveling engines, designed to propel and steer the rocket, suddenly going wild.

Air Force officials confirmed the diagnosis that informed sources had made earlier.

Essential To Moon

The Gemini 9 flight was an essential step toward working out moon-flight techniques.

For that reason, Air Force officials have called an immediate meeting of the Atlas technical review board with hopes of pinpointing the reason the Atlas swivel engines went awry.

"Oh no, oh no, oh no," said pilot Eugene A. Cernan, the 32-year-old rookie astronaut who was to have made a record 2½-hour space walk on the second day of the three-day mission.

The Atlas-Agena trouble sent the 113-foot rocket into a wild tumble toward earth, separating as it did. The rockets plunged into the ocean 160 miles from Cape Kennedy, just east of Grand Bahama Island.

'Oh, Shucks'

Command pilot Thomas P. Stafford—a veteran of disappointment in the nothing-is-for-sure space flights — was reported to have said, "Oh, shucks . . ." Then he told the ground crew: "You can't get your hopes up until that Agena (target ship) comes across the States (on first or bit) I've been up here a number of times before."

He and Gemini 6 command pilot Walter M. Schirra were left without a target in the sky last Oct. 25 when the first Agena in the program developed a faulty fuel mixture and blew up before it could go into orbit.

Then it happened again in December. Waiting to blast off for a hastily planned attempt to rendezvous with Gemini 7 and recover lost program time, Stafford and Schirra spent some frightening moments in their spacecraft when their Titan rocket suddenly shut down right after ignition. The flight went off as programmed two days later.

Not With Agena

When the Gemini 9 mission is definitely rescheduled, it will not be attempted with an Agena. Instead an Augmented Target Docking Adapter, which is not a flying engine like the Agena, will be put into orbit so that the Gemini 9 pilots can practice some of the docking maneuvers with it.

For the families of Stafford and Cernan—watching on television at their homes near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston — the disappointment was just as real.

Cernan's wife, Barbara, told newsmen outside her home, "The only persons more disappointed have to be those waiting in the spacecraft . . . I'm very disappointed, but that's the way it goes. I hope it won't be too long before they have another target. Tracey (their 3-year-old daughter) thinks her daddy lives in a rocket and that he goes there on Monday and comes home on Friday."

Stafford's wife, Faye, relayed her feelings through a space agency aide. It was "not her own disappointment, but it's everybody's," the aide said.

Parents Disappointed

The disappointment was keen to the parents of the astronauts.

"Tom must be a jinx on that thing," said his mother, Mrs. Mary Stafford at Weatherford, Okla. "Oh dear, this is the fourth time I've been through this. Naturally I'm disappointed, but it's getting to be routine."

Cernan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cernan, told of their letdown from the porch of their home at Bellwood, Ill.

"We were all keyed up for it," the father said. "It's very disappointing. It's been quite trying — quite a big letdown for us."

"We were hoping and praying it would be a success," said Mrs. Cernan.

STORY AT LEFT

STAFFORD . . . rubs head; Cernan watches.

Next Target 'The Blob'

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—The new target satellite that the Gemini 9 crew will try to chase in about three weeks is similar to the cylinder-shaped Agena. Its use, however, means an important part of the Gemini 9 flight plan must be eliminated.

The substitute — called an Alternate Target Docking Adapter (ATDA) — is jokingly referred to as "the blob" in Cape Kennedy circles because, unlike the Agena, it has no motor.

The ATDA was built after an Agena failed to achieve orbit Oct. 25, spoiling the first rendezvous attempt by Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford.

An Agena target for Gemini 10 is at Cape Kennedy, but officials said it would take too long to check it out for use with Gemini 9. The ATDA can be mounted on another Atlas and fired in about three weeks, said Dr. George E. Mueller, Gemini program director.

The ATDA is nine feet shorter than the Agena. Its lighter weight permits it to be hoisted into an orbit very near where the Agena was supposed to propel itself 185 miles above the earth.

Since the ATDA has no propulsion, a portion of the Gemini 9 flight plan will be eliminated. That called for Stafford and co-pilot Eugene A. Cernan to trigger the Agena's 16,000-pound-thrust engines, kicking Gemini into different orbits while the two satellites were linked together.

Boxcar Bill Gets Final OK

Washington (AP)—The Senate gave speedy final congressional approval Tuesday to a bill designed to stimulate purchase of more boxcars by the nation's railroads.

By accepting House amendments to its previously passed bill, the Senate sent the measure to President Johnson. Action was by voice vote.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, in calling up the measure for Senate action, said the House amendments had not changed the intent of the bill.

The pill would permit the Interstate Commerce Commission, after hearing, to prescribe rental rates paid by railroads using another line's freight cars.

Midwestern and Western railroads and congressmen have complained for many years that Eastern lines were using their boxcars instead of building new ones.

Magnuson said the bill will not provide overnight results in ending the recurring boxcar shortage.

'Joe Bananas' Back From Limbo, Silent

New York (AP)— Cosa Nostra chieftain Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, supposedly kidnaped in the rain on Park Avenue 18 months ago, returned from an underworld limbo Tuesday, tight-lipped about his mysterious disappearance.

JOSEPH BONANNO

The swarthy, ruggedly handsome Bonanno surrendered to federal authorities, who had a sealed indictment waiting for him, in connection with his failure to keep a date with a rackets-probing federal grand jury Oct. 21, 1964 — the day he vanished.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel set bail at $150,000, although the government asked $500,000. Bonanno was directed to surrender his passport and, except with specific permission, to keep away from steamship piers, railroad depots and airports.

Evidence that Bonanno's surrender had been planned in advance was indicated when he posted the bond, after pleading innocent. Authorization for the bond, backed by family collateral, had been signed May 9.

Rumpled Trousers

Bonanno, 61, one of the nation's top mobsters, arrived at Foley Square to surrender wearing a gray-blue suit with rumpled trousers, dark gray hat, white shirt and dark tie.

"Mr. Bonanno has no statement to make at this time," said his lawyer, Albert J. Krieger. Newsmen, clamoring for some inkling as to Bonanno's whereabouts during his absence, received a stony glare from the defendant.

Bonanno variously has been reported as being in Canada, Mexico, Sicily and North Africa. His disappearance was believed linked to a struggle for territorial control with the Cosa Nostra, the national crime syndicate.

"We frankly don't know where he has been," U.S. Atty. Robert M Morgenthau declared.

Third Move

The lodging of the charge against Bonanno was the third federal move within five weeks against reputed Cosa Nostra bigwigs.

On April 12, John (Sonny) Franzese, 47, was arrested on federal bank robbery charges, accused of taking over a wide-ranging, big-time bank bandit gang. Free in $150,000 bail, he was described as a lieutenant in a Brooklyn Cosa Nostra family formerly headed by the late Joseph Magliocco.

On April 21, labor racketeer Johnny Dio, 52, was indicted on charges of milking more than $35,000 from a bankrupt kosher meat company, and released in $15,000 bond. He was said to be a captain in the Thomas (Three Finger Brown) Luchese Cosa Nostra family.

Mobster Joseph Valachi told a 1963 Senate hearing that Bonanno headed one of the five Cosa Nostra families that control New York's graft, labor rackets and dope.

Nevertheless, Bonanno's record includes only a single conviction — a $450 fine and 18 months' probation in 1942 for violating the federal wage and hour law in a women's coat factory he owned in Brooklyn.

Tass Reports Fizzle But Doesn't Comment

Fulbright Panel Wants 'Secret 7' To Oversee CIA

Washington (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Tuesday to seek a role in watching over the Central Intelligence Agency by expanding and upgrading the subcommittee that now has the job.

The subcommittee, known as "the secret seven," would be increased to nine members and given the title of full committee on intelligence operations. It would oversee U.S. foreign intelligence and espionage operations of various agencies.

Before the 14 to 5 vote, the resolution was watered down, said Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to make it "more palatable" to those in the Senate who oppose making any more senators privy to CIA secrets.

U.N. Is Urged To Take Over Sea, Space As Cash Source

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — A high-level commission recommended Tuesday night that the United Nations take over ownership of the high seas and outer space and use them as independent sources of income.

In its 17th annual report, the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace also said U.N. Secretary-General U Thant should recruit and pay his own permanent trouble-shooting force of 2,000 soldiers.

The same body also suggested that while the 117-nation U.N. General Assembly should keep its rule of one vote to each country, it should have year-around working committees of limited membership weighted in favor of the countries with the greatest power, interest or responsiblity.

U.N. Association

The commission is part of the United Nations Association of the United States. Seventy members signed its report. Among them were scholars, writers, editors, union leaders and business executives.

The report said the General Assembly should "declare the title of the international community" to the high seas and outer space for six reasons:

(1) To avoid conflicts over them between nations, (2) to keep their resources from being wasted, (3) to prevent their military use, (4) to head off their contamination, (5) to make sure all nations could benefit from their resources and (6) "to provide the United Nations with an independent source of income."

"Member nations," the commission said, "are not willing to pay assessments adequate for the task they expect the United Nations to perform. The revenues of the United Nations must therefore be augmented by independent sources of income.

"No one can estimate now what the income of the United Nations might be from its granting licenses for the exploitation of the resources of the seas and the revenues which should accrue to it from outer space communications.

Sizable

"It is estimated, however, that the amount of money to be realized certainly should make an important contribution to the United Nations budget (now $120 million a year).

"Furthermore, it should help pay for . . . technical assistance to the developing states."

The commission recommended that the United Nations take title to the high seas and seabeds "beyond the 12-mile limit for fish (and) beyond the continental shelf for minerals" and that a U.N. Marine Resources Agency grant, lease or use rights to fishing, whaling and mineral extraction.

Off Limits

It said long-range missiles, deep-swimming submarines and underwater research colonies could be hidden on the ocean floor and so it recommended that the assembly declare "the deep sea and the seabed" off limits to the installation, operation or testing of weapons.

For U.N. peacekeeping purposes, the commission said, "many governments should earmark contingents of their standing armies" to make up large forces and meanwhile "the secretary-general should have a 'fire brigade' constantly on duty and paid for by the United Nations."

"This force—2,000 has been suggested — would be composed of men who have enlisted directly. They could be rushed to the scene of trouble and keep order until the secretary-general has had an opportunity to select the earmarked contingents and get them on the spot."

Chou's Romania Visit Next Week

Moscow (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China will arrive in Bucharest May 24 for a 10-day visit, Romanian sources said Tuesday.

He is expected to discuss the Viet Nam war and the Moscow-Peking dispute during his visit to Romania, which has tried in the past to act as a middleman between the Soviet Union and China.

State Visit Begins

Chappell Student Cited As Top Ag College Grad

. . . MUSSEHL, DR. CROWE ALSO HONORED

Jerome P. Criswell of Chappell has been honored as the student graduating this year with the highest scholastic average in the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Criswell and Bruce P. Snyder of Paxton, who ranks second among seniors in agriculture at NU, were cited at the annual banquet of Gamma Sigma Delta, the honor society of agriculture, here Tuesday night. Criswell's average is near-perfect on the university's four point grading scale.

Criswell

Snyder

Mussehl

Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics presented Criswell and Snyder with senior scholarship awards and a 'timeless" book. In addition, Criswell received a pen and pencil set. His name wil be engraved on a permanent plaque with those of previous winners.

Criswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Criswell of Chappell, was honored recently as outstanding senior in the NU Agronomy Club.

Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Snyder of Paxton, ranks near Criswell with a grade average of 3.86.

Frank E. Mussehl, retired chairman of the NU poultry science department, and Dr. Lawrence K. Crowe, profesor of dairy science, were cited for their outstanding contributions to agriculture in Nebraska and the nation. They received merit awards at the banquet.

The awards are designed to recognize persons who have rendered outstanding service in research, extension, teaching, administration or leadership in the field of agriculture.

Mussehl served on the university faculty for 40 years, beginning in 1917, with 38 years in the capacity of chairman of the poultry department. He has been a member of Gamma Sigma Delta since 1918 and served as the society's vice president and president.

Dr. Crowe has been teaching for 42 years and has been an active member of the American Dairy Association for 38 years, once serving as chairman of the Manufacturing Section.

Dr. Doryland 4th Winner Of Teaching Award

A University of Nebraska biochemist, Dr. Pauline N. Doryland, became the fourth winner of the teaching award from Gamma Sigma Delta.

The award was established four years ago by the Nebraska chapter "to recognize and encourage an uncommon devotion to a common goal of developing a stronger agriculture through superior teaching."

Dr. Doryland has taught chemistry at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics since 1944. Her major research interest has been with the nutritional applications of biochemistry. Primarily, the Kearney State College graduate has been a teacher.

'99 Peru Grad Attends Lincoln Meet

In attendance at the spring dinner meeting of the Lincoln area chapter of the Peru Alumni Association at the Nebraska Center were five Peruvians who were graduated from Peru State College more than 50 years ago. They are (from left) standing — Robert B. Ray, '06, 1914 South 23rd, Lincoln; M. C. Bloss, '15, 2534 A street, Lincoln; Orley D. Clements, '15, Elmwood; seated — H. Clyde Filley, '99, 1336 North 44th street, Lincoln; and Mrs Mayme Phillips, '10, 131 North 18th, Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Shafer, Lincoln, were elected president and vice-president of the Lincoln area chapter of the Peru alumni group. Virginia Ann Porr was elected secretary-treasurer.

Dodge Co. Vote Recount Favors Mrs. Kibbee

Fremont (UPI)—Mrs. Irene Kibbee of Fremont, deputy county clerk, Tuesday was declared the winner for the Republican nomination for Dodge County clerk in a recount.

Howard C. Johnson of Fremont had been declared the unofficial winner by 13 votes following the primary election May 10.

However, the canvassing board Friday accepted 71 absentee ballots. Mrs. Kibbee received 50 of the votes and was then declared the winner by 18 votes.

Johnson noted that more than 4,000 votes had been cast in the race and Monday asked for a recount by the election board.

During the recount Johnson picked up 13 additional votes but still lost by five.

McCook Man Dies In Crash

Culbertson (UPI) — Roy F. Wilcox, 69, McCook, was killed Tuesday morning in a pickup truck accident 4.2 miles west of nere on U.S. 6.

The State Safety Patrol said Wilcox was westbound when his pickup went out of control and hit a tree south of the highway. He died instantly.

Wilcox was alone in the truck at the time of the accident.

area of grassland and some ranch buildings 18 miles east and one mile south of here.

Several head of livestock were also lost in the blaze.

The fire was first reported at 2:20 p.m. CST near the ranch of Alex O'Keif. It quickly spread to the ranch, destorying a barn, a shop building and killing two horses and six to eight calves.

Firefighters from Valentine, Wood Lake and Ainsworth had to be aided by volunteers in order to bring the fire under control at 3:30 p.m.

There has been no estimate as to the amount of grassland burned in the blaze.

Co-Op Urges Extension Of Milk Pricing Order

Omaha (AP)— Extension of the federal milk pricing order as proposed by the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Co-operative Milk Association to cover ungraded milk bottled for human consumption was argued before federal hearing officer, Jack W. Bain of Washington.

The co-op wants the government to extend its order and a differential of 10 cents a hundredweight was suggested.

Testimony was that bottlers of the ungraded milk will buy milk at about $1.50 a hundredweight less than the price for milk bottled as Grade A.

W. J. Grant, general manager of the co-op, said there are six bottlers of ungraded milk in eastern Nebraska now. They generally price their product below Grade A, producers of which must meet stiffer standards, he said.

Cites Sales Loss

George McCoy of Fairmont Foods Lincoln Division, using the months of April, 1965, and April, 1966, said his firm suffered a sales loss of around 47% because of the availability of ungraded milk and G. A. Roberts, Lincoln manager for Roberts Dairy, Omaha, cited a like loss.

Joining them in supporting extension of the federal order were Les Chaffin of Gillette Dairy, Norfolk; Lawrence Liebers Liebers Skyline Dairy, Lincoln; John Spray, Beatrice Foods, Lincoln; and Nebraska Dairy Industries officials.

An opponent spokesman, Jake Breslow of Lincoln Dairy, said his firm has been selling ungraded milk in the Lincoln area for several years and that sales have dropped in recent months.

He told Bain that if the federal order is extended "I'd be inclined to close up."

Problems In The Cities

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

While it is popular to center our fire on Washington when we think of taxes, the growing tax burden has been at the local level. Editorial Research Reports (ERR) shows that since 1953, the federal share of all government income has fallen from 72.7 percent to 64 percent in 1958 and remained below that level up to the present time.

The Tax Bite Analyzed

Meanwhile, the state share of government expenditures rose to 17.2 percent in 1963-64, up from 12.8 percent in fiscal 1953, and local government expenditures rose from 14.5 percent of the total to 19 percent. Added to this is the fact that approximately half of all local government income comes from other than local tax sources — from federal aid, state assistance, fees, utility profits, etc. Thus, when you consider where the tax gouge is coming from, you can't overlook state and local government. And these governments' "take" would be substantially higher than it is today were it not for federal aid.

Despite a constant expansion of federal activities, the local tax situation will continue to be the big problem. ERR notes that "larger and larger expenditures for schools, highway and transport systems, police forces, and other services are needed by the cities as the population becomes increasingly urban. In the decade from 1950 to 1960 the population of the 222 standard metropolitan statistical areas rose from 26.5 percent, while the country's total population increased 18.5 percent.

"The proportion of Americans living in urban areas rose from 64 percent of the total in 1950 to 69.9 percent in 1960. Early in 1966 the Census Bureau reported that 'the metropolitan population over-all increased about twice as rapidly as the nonmetropolitan between 1960 and 1965.' By the end of the 20th Century, metropolitan areas are expected to hold 73 percent of the total population — or 250 million Americans, 55 million more than live in the whole country at present."

There are a number of things that should concern us in regard to this situation. Some like to note that government, definitely including local government, has to reduce its spending if we are to withstand the challenge of this suburban sprawl. This may be a nice dream but it is little more than that. Even if government entered into no new services or programs, the cost of government would go up as a result of a growing number of people partaking of existing government activities. Beyond this are other general ideas to be considered. One reason the cities are growing is because of economic opportunity found in them. In other words, the American way of life is still expanding and improving from an economic point of view.

It is unrealistic to think that government would remain static in its spending when the rest of the economy was moving forward. Those who object to the level of taxation should examine their own personal situation. It is not so much a question of how much taxes they are paying as it is their ability to pay them. It is the share of personal income taken by government that counts, not just the total. And the fact is that the average American is much better off today on that score than he was, say, 25 years ago. We lament the high price of food, too, but it is a fact that it takes fewer man hours of labor today to earn the price of a loaf of bread or a cut of beef than it did 10 years ago.

The citizen who thinks about the state of affairs in his community is not likely to hold too strongly to the less-government-spending idea. Without government spending we cannot have the sewers that are essential to the development of new residential areas.

Without government spending we cannot have the police and fire protection we want for our homes and businesses. Without government spending we cannot have the parks to enjoy and the swimming pools to entertain us that we make such use of today. Government spending provides our libraries, our streets, our street lighting, our courts, our zoning and a host of other things.

Financial Pattern

With a concentrated effort by government to meet these service demands, the American city would deteriorate into a state of withering decay. Rather than a place of opportunity, the American city with a declining role for government would find itself a center of disappointment and frustration. Certainly, we should strive to have government that is efficient and government that does not extend itself beyond accepted areas of interest but we would have nothing if we attempted to solve the metropolitan financial problem by cutting services to fit a popular and easy fiscal outline.

The growth of metropolitan areas is a challenge that must be solved, not a trend to be reversed. The solution will not be an easy one, as the figures on cost of government show, but it can be achieved with realism and intelligence.

Others Not So Privileged

A good many citizens will be interested in the outcome of the campaign funds case involving Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut Democrat. Mainly through the efforts of Columnist Drew Pearson, Dodd will soon be accounting to the Internal Revenue Service and the Senate Ethics Committee for some $200,000 in campaign funds, acquired since 1961.

The question will be whether the funds were raised legitimately for campaign expenses and whether they were spent for the purposes collected. Discussing the issue, the Wall Street Journal notes:

"No less a political luminary than Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois maintains a fund in a special bank account from which he draws $10,000 to $12,000 a year to pay for radio and television broadcasts, ads in various journals and other 'exposure'-generating expenses. The generous donors, he explains, give 'from the heart,' knowing that a politician is always campaigning, 365 days a year . . .

"Dozen of others allow wealthy supporters to set up office funds or let lobbyists for business and labor sponsor testimonials, anniversary celebrations, birthday parties and other occasions or excuses for fund-raising not necessarily related to campaign needs—namely, office, entertainment and travel expenses."

In the light of general practice, Senator Dodd may escape with little Senate criticism but the public attitude could be another thing. The average citizen will resent such questionable forms of income and question the integrity of those who have them. The citizen to have such an attitude need only look at the hard work and sacrifice that have gone into whatever financial success he has achieved.

We Had A Failure

The unmanned Atlas-Agena rocket which was shot into the heavens one orbit ahead of the scheduled launching of the two man Gemini 9 failed to perform its function.

Thus yesterday the newest U.S. space exercise was washed out. They say it will be three weeks before another test flight can be prepared.

This was disappointing to America which has become accustomed to great and progressive space feats. But we doubt that the watching world has lost faith in us. We have built an enviable space record, have never lost a man and have never conducted a flight in secret. Space efforts are our most publicized events, worldwide.

The worst losses we have suffered this time is a three week delay and some money. The discoveries expected from yesterday's tests have only been delayed a short time.

The U.S. space program has had surprisingly few failures. It is impossible to explore a new field without error. And in this instance, each error that is discovered and corrected contributes to ultimate, safe and dependable space travel. We have been extremely fortunate in safeguarding our human space explorers. Nothing has yet happened in space that they could not cope with. And we must remember this about scientific effort. A failure marks progress as well as success. It leads the way to better design and locks the door to future efforts the wrong way.

Disappointment is another matter. We know that the two astronauts are disappointed and so are the men of the space agency. But they are still here to perform successfully on another day and that is the most important.

Timing Means Soon

Governor Frank Morrison has indicated that the calling of a special session of the Nebraska legislature is a matter of timing.

No one can take issue with that.

And there are few now who can question the need for a special session. Sufficient reason lies in the loss of revenue when the State Supreme Court knocked the sox off Nebraska's ill-conceived intangible tax law. That action was long overdue. But when the court decreed that foreign securities could only be assessed at their book value instead of at their market value the state and its subdivisions lost at least $3 million of expected income. It was not the court's function to reduce the tax, but to correct the law's patent disabilities. It is up to the legislative body to see to tax income. It can do that by rewriting the intangible tax law.

This rewriting, itself, is sufficient to invoke the legislature. An attempt was made in Lincoln to solve the matter by a charter amendment removing the limit on the Lincoln property levy in order to keep the city's revenue at least as high as it was before when the intangible tax figured in its basic tax figuring. But the referendum was rejected. This places correction with the legislature. Lincoln has only taken one further step than other Nebraska cities and the experience here writes out any uniform correction with less than broad legislative action.

But there is also a factor in timing. Levymaking will be largely completed by the end of July. If the session is postponed too long any decision will greatly confuse the present year's tax program.

Fear H-Bomb In Near East

WASHINGTON — Explosion of the Chinese nuclear bomb came within ten days after U.S. ambassadors from all parts of the Middle East gathered in Beirut for a secret session with Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Hare on the dangers of war in Asia.

Their chief concern was the development of the nuclear bomb in the Middle East.

Ambassador Walworth Barbour, who came to Beirut from Israel, told the other American ambassadors that Israel is expected to start producing nuclear weapons next year. Israel has two atomic reactors, one outside Tel Aviv, the other south of Beersheba in the Negev desert, the latter being a very secret installation which no foreigner is permitted to inspect.

Ambassador Barbour predicted that the development of nuclear weapons by Israel would mean the Arab states would seek nuclear weapons of their own or they might even launch a preventive war to stop Israel from becoming a nuclear power.

☆ ☆ ☆

The ambassadors reported that Russia is more active than ever in the Middle East.

Khaled Bagdash, the No. 1 Arab communist, has now slipped into Damascus, Syria, on a deal whereby the Kremlin required his admission in return for granting Syria a $150 million loan to build a dam on a branch of the Euphrates river. Bagdash is reported at work reorganizing the communist underground in the Middle East.

After the Beirut conference, Assistant Secretary Hare flew to Cairo, where he previously served as ambassador, and tried to persuade his old friend President Nasser to keep the peace in Yemen. He did not succeed.

☆ ☆ ☆

State Department officials are not happy over the American proposal to sell plutonium to Euratom, the six-nation agency for the peaceful development of atomic energy.

The plutonium would have to be produced by reactors designed to manufacture fissionable material for nuclear weapons. And it's relatively easy to switch peacetime nuclear energy to deadly nuclear weapons.

Though Euratom had given solemn assurances that the plutonium will be used strictly for peaceful purposes, State Department officials are uneasy over how much control they can exercise over West Germany. A large percentage of the plutonium would go to West Germany for use in the Karlsruhr atomic energy center.

Question CIA As Closed Corporation

WASHINGTON — The so-called debate on the proposal to create a new oversight committee for the Central Intelligence Agency recalls the Duke of Wellington's comment on the Order of the Garter. The Iron Duke said what he liked about this royal favor was that it had no "damned nonsense about merit" attached to it.

Senators understand very well that they are being asked to choose between Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. Russell is chairman of Armed Services and in practice dominates appropriations. He is close to President Johnson. Fulbright is chairman of Foreign Relations and the leading dissenter to the President's Viet Nam policy.

What senators do not know is which way the cat will jump in Viet Nam as the moment of truth nears for both parties in the midterm election this fall. Their preference for the Russell storm cellar on the sensitive question of CIA is inevitable.

Few deny that the Foreign Relations Committee effort to join with subcommittees of Armed Services and Appropriations in overseeing CIA has merit. Larger now than the State Department, the CIA operates in the field where foreign relations members are best informed and best qualified to judge the long-range issues involved in its work.

☆ ☆ ☆

Fulbright is especially concerned by the possibility that the CIA is using the Fulbright scholarships, which are worldwide, as cover, as it did various universities. This could man discrediting not only American scholars but men in power abroad who are friendly to this country.

At present the CIA director will "brief" other senators than the Russell group but will not answer their probing questions. The grounds he cites are that CIA was created under the National Security Act, not as a foreign policy instrument.

Russell objects to calling the present arrangement "informal" but it is unusual. It consists of five-member subcommittees, one each from Armed Services and Appropriations, and it is closely held, almost inbred. Each subcommittee includes, in theory, the three most senior members of the majority and the two most senior of the minority of the full committees. most senior members of the majority and the two most senior of the minority of the full committees.

☆ ☆ ☆

In practice it worked out for years that Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts were the minority members for both Armed Services and Appropriations while Russell was in the same class for the Democrats. In December, 1961, Bridges died and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine was in line for the place from Armed Services with Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota the indicated successor from Appropriations.

Russell waxed indignant over a charge that senators were screened for the job to suit CIA and the White House but something happened to the independent Yankee from Maine on her way to its deliberations. Saltonstall had Young named promptly but Mrs. Smith was not named and her place was left vacant.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Rockefeller Returns To Strength

NEW YORK — An old friend of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller says it was at the age of 13 that young Nelson decided he would one day be President of the United States. While he has sworn to put aside any further presidential ambition this is not a seven-year but a 70-year itch from which the sufferer rarely, if ever, recovers.

It is more virulent if the victim has come within a whisker of the prize. Most analysts, including the late President John F. Kennedy speaking privately, believe that if the Republicans had nominated Rockefeller in 1960 he would have won. They chose Richard M. Nixon instead and Nixon, who lost by the narrowest of margins in the popular vote, is out to capture the nomination once more.

The presidential issue arose because Sen. Jacob Javits, far and away the G.O.P.'s greatest vote-getter in the state, strongly suspected that despite all his disclaimers Rockefeller was getting ready for another try. This would mean a repetition of the fatal split of 1964, and if the party was not already dead that would be the knell of doom. So Javits did some agile feinting, indicating he would very likely run for the nomination for governor himself.

Rockefeller was smoked out and declared that a third term in Albany was the limit of his ambition. At the same time the track was cleared for a favorite-son delegation for Javits at the 1968 convention and the glitter of his own ambition —the No. 2 spot on the national ticket—at the end of the road. He would be the first Jew chosen by the national party for the first or second place.

☆ ☆ ☆

A year ago Rockefeller's chances were not rated high. His divorce, remarriage and his failure in the presidential primaries were all fresh in the public mind. The need for more taxes pressed hard. But in the meantime he has been working to build himself back with the kind of unflagging concentration that his grandfather, old John D., showed in putting together the Standard Oil empire. By all accounts he is today in a strong position.

The Democrats are one reason. They are divided six ways to Sunday with new candidates coming out of every subway exit. With his mastery of the techniques of attention-getting, as shown on the front page of almost any newspaper any day, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy may yet make himself overload.

He still, however, has a long way to go in trying to reduce this can of worms to order. His proposal for a series of Democratic forums around the state wil at least give public exposure to men who are little known. Only one name, that of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., has any carrying power, and this is thanks to a nostalgia for a great past.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is the unannounced candidate who causes the most concern in both Republican and Democratic camps. Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner is lurking in the background, not saying yes and not saying no. In all probability he could get the nomination at the convention in August if he goes for it and he would be Rockefeller's most formidable opponent. Why he should want it after struggling for 12 years to govern this boiling hive of a city is another question.

If that same question occurs to Mayor Lindsay — why did he want to walk into the lions' den? — he gives no sign of it. On the telephone in his official limousine comes word from city hall telling him that the nurses in the city's hospitals who are threatening a walkout feel he isn't taking the situation seriously enough. Lindsay dictates a telegram to be released assuring them of his deep concern for a fair wage settlement.

Inflationary pressure is putting an added squeeze on the mayor's job. At a nurses' meeting the other day they shouted at Timothy Costello, deputy mayor for administration, asking whether he knew that they are paid less than the men who sweep the streets. The Lindsay administration began with a subway strike ending with a wage increase of 16 per cent. With that example an increasing restiveness is spreading through the ranks of the city's 270,000 employees.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last week a Lindsay task force reported that New York had the most-polluted air of any city, with 730 pounds each year of noxious material in the air for every man, woman and child. If it were not for the topography and the prevailing winds New York would be uninhabitable and a mass death under certain atmospheric conditions is not ruled out.

What to do about it? The city itself, with its outdated incinerators is one of the worst offenders, as are the city buses and the public buildings. To upgrade the incinerators would cost $20,000,000.

Money, money, money — this is the cry dinned in the mayor's ear day and night. At the same time rebellious taxpayers at a tax hearing at city hall screamed and howled their protests. The New York Stock Exchange is threatening to move to Newark (a threat Lindsay doesn't take too seriously) because of a $50,000,000 stock transfer tax. All that can be said is that if this Jack the Giant Killer strikes down even half the giants in his way and survives he will emerge a formidable man for any future office.

Not Listening

Lincoln, Neb.

I attended three coffees for Norbert Tiemann before the primary. At each I listened for an hour and a half while the most patient man in the world answered the same question again and again. The question, of course, was, "What is your stand on the tax issue?"

Judging by the May 12 editorial, he should now take an hour and a half to explain it to our esteemed editor of The Star.

Mr. Tiemann has said again and again that property taxes can go no higher. From that point, he has stated that the issue depends on many circumstances, all of which are out of the hands of any candidate for governor.

At this time, the income tax already passed is in the hands of the Supreme Court. Therefore, statements such as, "Tiemann will be challenged to justify his position in favor of state progress and against a change in the tax base," (Star, May 12 editorial) only prove that someone isn't listening.

Indianapolis, Ind.

Why doesn't The Star do an editorial on LBJ? It did one on Senator Carl Curtis. Will the real LBJ please stand up?

LBJ has changed his stand on civil rights several times, depending on which way the "vote winds were blowing." LBJ promised labor everything, and he got the labor vote. Then he sold labor down the river. He would sell anyone down the river. He has let the boys down in Viet Nam.

LBJ lets the Air Force bomb only 5% of the strategic targets. We could end the war in 30 days if he would fire McNamara and let the Joint Chiefs of Staff take over and they should as they are professionally qualified. LBJ and McNamara are unqualified amateurs.

We should vote Republican or the Democrats will think we approve of all their stupid mistakes.

Unhappy

Lincoln, Neb.

The editorial in the Thursday paper was very pessimistic. Ever since FDR, things have been in a muddle nationally. Statewise, taxes, etc., are upset and plans unsettled. Now, this post office in Lincoln could have been adjusted to suit Wyuka people and better all of Lincoln. I hate things the way they are.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

With 15 of the 18 charter amendments passed, I think that has to be counted as quite a victory for the City of Lincoln. While we didn't get the big one on tax ceiling, we did achieve a lot with the others.

I want to commend all the people in the news department at The Star for the significant piece of work in helping tell the voters about these amendments. Without the news media, the city government would have been stymied in any attempt to let the people know what this was all about.

Rude Treatment

Lincoln, Neb.

When I recently attended the Gene Pitney Cavalcade of Stars, I was utterly disgusted. I used to respect Pershing Auditorium and its staff, but now my opinion of them has changed. Two lady employes in particular were the most unfair people I've ever known. What is the reason for taking away a person's camera? "It makes the entertainers nervous." The performers have bright spotlights on them continually. Why should a few flashes here and there bother them? Some kids like to have souvenirs of what they have seen and pictures the kids take personally are the most meaningful momentos.

Back to the two rude ladies. We can understand why they won't let us crowd around the stage but why can't we at least be allowed to stand up for a moment to see one of the performers? We paid money mainly to see them, not to hear them. The ladies get to stand by the stage close enough to the performers to touch them and they tell us to sit down.

And now as I listen to the songs by the performers of that night, I remember only the bossing of the two ladies and my confiscated camera.

I thought the entertainment was planned for us, not the employes.

Engineers' Platte Dam Study Now Inconclusive

The Army Corps of Engineers says that it has reached a crossroad in its study of reservoirs on the Platte River in the Omaha-Lincoln area.

Omaha district Army Engineer Col. Harold J. St. Clair said Tuesday that so far the results of the study must be described as inconclusive but that the same results point to the need for further investigation of the lower Platte River

The district engineer said that one area which the Corps would like to investigate more fully is the possible application of the pump-back storage principle in the field of hydroelectric power production.

The pump-back concept, the colonel noted, has been used by private industry in meeting peace power needs in industrialized and high population centers of eastern United States.

The Colonel described the pump-back storage concept as a way to economically make use of surplus power to pump water from one reservoir into another for later reuse in the production of peak load electricity.

Pair of Dams

Col. St. Clair said the system to be studied will involve the main stems and the tributary dam or a pair of camden main stem dams, equipped with units capable of functioning as either generators or pumps.

The colonel said that as our study stands now, "I do not feel it is possible to determine whether a Platte River dam is feasible or infeasible when only the conventional approach has been used, and I believe it is highly desirable to explore the use of pump storage before this determination is made."

"The corps of engineers started its investigation in this vicinity two years ago and Col. St. Clair noted that a number of reservoir sites have been studied and preliminary cost estimates for construction and relocations have been made.

South Bend Site

During the investigation of sites, an area near South Bend, Neb., was selected as the best of several alternatives. The reservoir at the South Bend site would develop a lake of about 100,000 acres.

Col. St. Clair said that the benefits of the potential project included power generation, flood control, sediment control, recreation, and main stem storage conservation. The colonel estimated that the additional studies and field investigations would require about one year.

Congress will be asked for $60,000 to cover costs of further study for dams on the South Bend site and at another location yet to be determined. An earlier statement erroneously put the amount at $600,000.

Grass Along Interstate Is In Poor Shape

Gov. Frank Morrison said Tuesday that adverse weather conditions and improper planting may be chiefly responsible for the poor condition of bluegrass on the Interstate Highway 80 medians.

Morrison said the University of Nebraska "is going to run some tests" on the grass.

Earlier in the day, Morrison accompanied two University of Nebraska plant pathologists on an inspection tour of several spots northeast of Lincoln where the grass reportedly "looks awfully sick."

"Top soil was covered up with clay in some places where the grass is doing poorly," he said. "That is one factor plus the dry winter."

Morrison said the Department of Roads is now making sure top soil is retained in future plantings.

The governor said the experts haven't ruled out the possibility of disease and tests will be made.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper, Democratic nominee for governor, first reported the condition, estimating one-third of the median grass west of the Platte River to Lincoln appeared to be dying.

Rasmussen, who serves on the governor's advisory committee on roadside development, said disease is a definite possibility in his opinion.

He estimated as much as 100 acres of grass sod, valued at around $200,000, could be involved.

Morrison Urges Hardin Selection To Science Panel

Gov. Frank Morrison said Tuesday he has recommended that Dr. Clifford M. Hardin be appointed to the National Science Advisory Board.

Dr. Hardin, a doctor of philosophy in agricultural economics, is one of the nominees submitted by the board to President Johnson. Appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Morrison, just returned from Washington, said the Midwest should be represented on the science board, and particularly from Nebraska.

Platform Eyed By Tiemann

Republican gubernatorial nominee Norbert T. Tiemann of Wausa said Tuesday he thinks the platform which Nebraska Republicans adopt next fall "would have to coincide almost identically with the view of the nominee."

He said he thought this could be accomplished with "a minimum of difficulty."

The platform will be hammered together at the state GOP convention in Omaha Sept. 23.

Lancaster County Republicans will hold a platform ideas public meeting Wednesday night and Tiemann said he expects some of his representatives to attend.

Lancaster is one of the few counties in the state where the county-level organization adopts a party platform. This will be accomplished at the county convention May 26.

State Given Microwave Unit Offer

The federal government has offered to sell the State of Nebraska a surplus microwave system for a statewide communications network.

The system is now in existence from Kansas City, Mo., to Omaha.

Estimated value of the equipment, which includes four microwave tower sites in Nebraska, was listed at $200,000 to $275,000.

The four Nebraska sites are Falls City, Stella, Nebraska City and Louisville. Two others are in Kansas and one in Missouri.

The offer was made by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) through the State Aeronautics Department.

A report of the State Communications Advisory Committee said the proposal is under study.

"It is highly possible that more surplus will be offered to Nebraska in the near future," the report said.

Plans are under way for a statewide communications network to end duplication of facilities, increase the day-to-day efficiency of the various state agencies and give Nebraska maximum communications potential in emergency situations.

Earlier, the federal government helped finance a feasibility study of the communications network.

Congress Passes Funds For Plains Forestry Center

Washington (UPI) —A Senate-House conference committee Tuesday morning approved the appropriation of $28,000 for the engineering and architectural design to establish a new great plains forestry research laboratory at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis of Nebraska advised University officials of the committee's action.

The new building would replace facilities which the University and United States Forest Service regard as inadequate.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin and Agriculture College Dean E. F. Frolik estimated $350,000 will be needed to construct the new building and that it will take $200,000 to hire personnel to man it.

NU Expects 2nd Largest Graduation

Approximately 1,450 degrees will be conferred at the University of Nebraska's second largest spring commencement exercises June 4 and 5 at Lincoln and Omaha.

The largest graduating class to date was recorded in 1950 when 1,661 students received degrees.

Commencement exercises in Lincoln will be held in two sessions at Pershing Municipal Auditorium at 10 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. June 4.

Degrees will be conferred as follows: 10 a.m., College of Arts and Sciences, College of Dentistry, College of Engineering and Architecture, College of Law, College of Pharmacy, graduate degrees in those areas and medical science; 3:15 p.m., College of Agriculture and Home Economics, College of Business Administration, Teachers College, teachers advanced professional, and graduate degrees in those areas.

Ceremonies for graduates of the College of Medicine and School of Nursing will be held at 2:30 p.m. June 5 in the Music Hall of the Omaha Civic Auditorium. Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin will preside at all sessions.

Candidates for degrees will receive detailed instructions by mail regarding their academic costumes and assembly procedures according to Shirley Thomsen, assistant registrar.

All second semester classes will end May 21. Final examinations will begin May 24, and will continue through June 2.

State Buys Snow Plow Equipment

The Department of Roads purchased $148,369 worth of snow-removal equipment to be used next winter, State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells reported Tuesday.

He said International Harvester Co. was low bidder on 20 four-wheel drive truck chassis at $117,174.

T. S. McShane Co. of Omaha was low at $20,151 for 20 plow blades for the trucks plus $10,044 for 12 smaller plow blades.

Wells said Fehrs Tractor and Equipment Co. of Omaha was apparent low bidder at $99,935 for five heavy-duty plows with V-blades.

However, he said the department is studying the bids because the unit price of $19,987 is approximately $3,000 higher than last year.

State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin said the purchases are part of the continuing replacement program to modernize the states snow removal equipment, some of which is 30 years old.

Delivery of the equipment is scheduled for Sept. 15.

Richard Fleming Voted SDX Head

Richard L. Fleming, assistant director of public relations for the University of Nebraska, has been elected president of the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society. He succeeds Dick Herman of the Lincoln Journal.

Other new officers announced Tuesday include James Tische of the Lincoln Journal, vice president and treasurer, and Frank Rall, public relations agency executive of Lincoln, secretary.

U.S. Back In Gabon's Confidence

Libreville, Gabon (AP)—The United States is winning back the friendship of Gabonese leaders who once blamed American intervention for an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow President Leon M'ba.

He was saved at the 11th hour during the 1964 coup by the arrival of French troops which still are the solid prop of his regime.

The 1964 coup was directed partly against French influence. Former U.S. Ambassador Charles Darlington was suspected by many Gabonese politicians of maintaining close contacts with its leaders. For more than a year after that, there was no American ambassador in Gabon.

Patient Bane

The new ambassador, David M. Bane, arrived last August and by patient diplomacy has succeeded in convincing Gabonese and French officials that the United States is not trying to replace French influence in the country.

The French are more than usually sensitive about Gabon.

With a population of less than half a million, Gabon has rich mineral deposits and produces much of the uranium needed for French nuclear weapons development.

Unlike most African nations, Gabon has no balance of trade problems. The uranium deposits may soon be worked out, but there are huge quantities of manganese, iron ore and oil.

Opportunity

The mineral reserves provide a unique opportunity for French - American economic cooperation.

At Belinga, 300 miles inland, a mountain of almost pure iron ore is believed to contain reserves of up to 2 billion tons.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., in collaboration with French interests, is planning to develop the area. Experts say the ore can be scooped off the surface with a bulldozer.

At Moanda ,some 200 miles inland from Belinga, there is the largest known deposit of manganese ore outside the Soviet bloc. Moanda is probably the only town in the world where the streets are paved with pure manganese.

Mau Mau Memoirs On Way

Nairobi, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's top Mau Mau warriors have forsaken their forest lairs and decided to write up their exploits for posterity.

After independence many of the self-styled field marshals and generals turned to banditry, and Kenya's security forces had to flush them out of the forests.

Now the surviving leaders have formed the Kenya African Friendship Press and Ex-Mau Mau Film Agents. Heading the company are 15 Mau Mau directors and, to ensure seclusion, a sign has been tacked on the door, reading:

'Privately quiet. Please make sure not to make a lot of talking.'

In their office, portraits of President Jomo Kenyatta and Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie share wall space with a racing calendar.

The managing director is Kimani Mangere, formerly chairman of the Mau Mau war council.

"Our main task for the present is sifting reports," said pamphleteer Mboggua Geyngo. "Hundreds of old Mau Mau are being asked to write their memoirs. If they can't write they will be brought to our office to tell their story. The evidence is already pouring in.

"We hope to publish our first book by the end of the year. This will cover the fight for independence from 1918 to 1952. Then there will be other books covering the period 1952 to 1964."

The books will later be made into films, said Geyngo.

"Each episode will be part of a series, each part more exciting than the last."

9 Pct. Homes In Omaha Northeast Area 'Good'

Omaha (AP) — Residents of a northeast Omaha neighborhood were told that of 476 dwellings in the area, only 9% could be rated in good condition.

The report followed an Omaha-Douglas County Health Department survey conducted in cooperation with the Lincoln office of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Joe Wallace of Lincoln said at a meeting of the Northeast Omaha Civic Club that 268 of the houses need minor repair and 185 require extensive revamping.

The survey area is bordered by Cornish Boulevard on the south, Florence Boulevard on the west, Read Street on the north and the Missouri River on the east.

The survey also disclosed instances of improper garbage disposal, rubbish and dilapidated sheds and some outdoor toilets.

Orval Barber, president of the neighborhood group, said members co-operated in the survey "because we're trying to make this a better neighborhood in which to live."

Elmer C. Willoughby, chief housing sanitarian for the City-County Health Department, complimented the club for its efforts and Wallace urged the group to continue pressing for improved sanitation.

Alliance Man Loses Life In Dakota Lake

Rapid City, S.D. (AP)—James H. Hunter, 56, of Alliance, Neb., drowned in a boating accident in Sheridan Lake in South Dakota's Black Hills Monday night.

His companion, Bernard Brice, also of Alliance, was able to stay afloat and get to shore but he spent about three hours in the water and was suffering from exposure. He was hospitalized but was reported in good condition Tuesday.

Mayor Thomas Wants Special Unicam Session

Scottsbluff (AP)—Mayor C. A. Thomas of Scottsbluff asked Gov. Frank Morrison to call a special session to deal with the taxing of stocks of non-Nebraska corporations.

The State Supreme Court has ruled that such stocks should be taxed on book value rather than market value and the ruling will cost the state and other subdivisions considerable tax money, Tax Commissioner James Dworak has said.

Kupfer Selected Head Of Savings And Loan League

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska Savings and Loan League at its annual meeting elected Paul H. Kupfer of Omaha as president, Dick Folda, Schuyler, first vice president; Irving Augustine, Grand Island, second vice president, and Ed Kutile, Omaha, treasurer.

Otto L. Pressler of Chicago, vice president of the national league, said savings and loan associations will have to be more restrictive in making home loans and the full impact of the reduction will be felt this summer.

Rites Held For Accident Victim

Guide Rock (UPI) — Services were held here Tuesday for Mrs. Keith Portenier, 42, a Guide Rock resident who died in a car-train accident in Lincoln Saturday.

Track Removal Won't Impair Service—Voss

A spokesman for the Rock Island Railroad said Tuesday the proposed abandoment of some switch and spur tracks at 18 eastern Nebraska communities would not hurt service to the towns.

Superintendent George H. Voss called the switch and spur rails "obsolete and unneeded" and said cash from sale of the track would be used to purchase locomotives, boxcars and other equipment.

Voss said the railroad will continue to seek authority to remove track not needed as the Rock Island operation is modernized.

His comments came at a State Railway Commission hearing on the track abandonment application, which has drawn fire from farmers cooperatives, construction firms, the villages of Clatonia and Alvo and the Fairbury Local of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The hearing covered plans to remove track at Omaha, Lincoln, South Bend, Albright, Richfield, Ramsey, Prairie Home, Murdock, Alvo, Havelock, Martell, Clatonia and Rokeby.

The Railway Commission will hold a hearing in Fairbury Thursday on removal of track at Plymouth, Jansen, Fairbury, De Witt and Thompson.

Protestants to the application include cooperatives at Jansen, Plymouth and Clatonia, grain and feed concerns at Alvo and Martell, Abel Construction Co., Lincoln, and Western Brick and Supply Co., South Bend.

They generally complained that the abandonments would result in a loss of service at certain points.

Mrs. Wright Candidate For GOP Position

A 22-year-old Lincoln housewife and political science graduate student, Mrs. Bette Harding Wright, has announced her candidacy for the post of secretary of the Lancaster County Republican central committee.

County officers will be chosen by delegates to the county post-primary convention May 26.

Mrs. Wright is the immediate past co-chairman of the Nebraska State Young Republican Federation, has served as secretary of that group and is a former vice president of the University of Nebraska Young Republicans.

"I think it highly important —indeed, essential — that the growing bloc of young voters be represented in Republican affairs," Mrs. Wright said.

Warden Reports Penal Complex Staff Changes

State Penitentiary Warden Maurice Sigler announced Tuesday administrative changes affecting three Penal Complex employes.

Ronald Jones, supervisor of education, was named associate warden, succeeding Richard Renard, who will become supervisor of the Penitentiary reception center.

The present reception center supervisor, Robert Keller, will assume new duties as parole officer for the Men's Reformatory, formerly handled by the Penitentiary parole officer.

The administrative changes become effective immediately.

Sigler said the education supervisor's post will be filled later.

3 NU Debaters Are Elected To Forensic Society

Three University of Nebraska debaters have been elected to membership in Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic honorary.

New members are John Drodow of Beatrice, Terry Hall of Lincoln (3940 Touzalin) and Alan Larson of Lincoln (1600 No. 63 St.). The outstanding freshman in debate award was presented to another Lincoln student, Vernon Jewett (1100 Sycamore Dr.).

The honorary's new officers for next year are Cathie Shattuck of Hastings, president; Roger Doerr of Hastings, vice president; Richard Sherman of Lincoln (3402 S St.), secretary; Randall Prier of Lincoln (619 E. Eldora Lane), treasurer.

Membership in Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha is open to fourth-semester students who rank in the upper 35% of their class and participate in debate activities. The society promotes interest in debate and original speaking and annually sponsors national and regional debate conferences.

Air Unit Eyes Revised Plans

. . . FOR MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Revised master plans to expand existing Lincoln Municipal Airport facilities to meet future needs were taken under consideration by the Lincoln Airport Authority board Tuesday.

It will be several years before the expansion program is a reality, but the board's action points out that the existing airport — just enlarged within the past two years — has space problems.

Listed by consultant Carl Christofersen of Hoskins & Association, the problems are inadequate parking, too small a ramp area and a terminal building with baggage and concourse facilities which will not be able to handle projected air traffic volume.

It was noted by the authority that both Frontier Airlines and United Air Lines have increased passenger traffic here over the past two years, and there is a possibility that Ozark Airlines and others might start Lincoln service in the future.

In addition, jet service will start here in October, with Frontier offering one eastbound and one westbound flight daily.

These factors have prompted the authority to take a new look at airport expansion. A master plan is also a requirement to qualify for federal aid to help finance projects not directly related to the terminal building.

An authority committee of Fred Eiche, Joseph Hampton and Richard Joyce will review the following alternate plans and return a recommendation to the full board.

—Extending the concrete apron to the west into the present Air National Guard area, which would allow expansion of the terminal building with perhaps a 2-level concourse and additional baggage area.

Additional parking would be available south of the present terminal.

—Convert the present terminal apron to parking and build a new terminal to the north with a large new apron further north and in front of it.

This would be the more expensive alternative and would mean abandoning the present development which cost approximately $800,000.

Representatives of Frontier and United told the authority that the existing facilities are now almost inadequate for present operations and that some type of expansion will be needed within two to five years.

Cost estimates on either alternate expansion plan were not available.

Phillips Elected Airport Authority Board Chairman

Robert J. Phillips, executive vice president of the Lincoln Equipment Co., Tuesday was elected Chairman of the Lincoln Airport Authority board for the next year.

Phillips has served on the authority since first being elected in 1959.

Other officers are first-term member Joseph Hampton, vice chairman; Richard Joyce, secretary and Jack Pace, ass't. secretary.

Outgoing chairman is Fred Eiche.

GSA Officials Discuss Lease With Authority

General Services Adminsitration (GSA) representatives were in Lincoln Tuesday to discuss air base lease termination details with the Lincoln Airport Authority.

Flying in from the federal government housekeeping unit's regional office in Kansas City, Mo., were officals Wayne Harrup and Floyd Mayard.

A tour of base facilities was taken, directed toward final termination of the lease and return of property not including the 500 acre Job Corps campus. The GSA has given the Office of Economic Opportunity a two-year standard entry permit to operate a Job Corps center at the base.

Authority attorney Chauncey Barney reported that the board "has not received a complete confirmaiton of the release of the lease yet".

He also said that a contract between the Job Corp and Northern Natural Gas Co. could be signed on Thursday or Friday.

The city will need to assume control of maintenance and protection of areas of the base as the Air Force phase-out occurs, beginning around June 25, Barney said.

He also said the Department of Defense has officially confirmed that air field support equipment—snow plows and fire and mowing equipment now used to maintain the long runway, will be given to the Air National Guard.

The authority was notified by Herbert Rogge of Frederick Harris, Inc., that the New York consulting firm has "an organized plan" for attracting potential commercial customers to base property once the lease question is settled.

Rolland Harr, executive director of the authority, was given guidelines by the board concerning the rental of land in addition to buildings, and the payment of taxes and insurance, to use when bargaining with prospective users.

Harr was directed to treat every lease individually.

The authority also agreed to discuss the prospect of developing a civilian pilot training academy at the base with Northern Natural Gas.

The firm has expressed "quite a bit of interest" in operating such a school through its management program, according to out-going board chairman Fred Eiche.

Several other groups have been interested in Rep. Clair Callan's (D-Neb.) proposal to start a pilot school here, but the plan needs further study, Eiche added.

The authority also:

—Voted to support the Frontier Airlines application to the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) for temporary exemption authority to serve Sidney on the airline's Segment 9 schedule.

—Has received no new information concerning Ozark Airline's route extension application to serve Lincoln.

Country Club Golf Course Booty Is Easily Noticeable

The thief who recently visited the Lincoln Country Club Golf Course shouldn't be hard to spot in a crowd.

Especially if he's toting his booty — 11 blue tee balls, nine red tee balls, 17 white tee balls and 12 flag poles.

They were taken sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning, police said. A Country Club spokesman valued the balls and poles at $164.

MRS. GARCIA . . . throws a veil over one of her 14 children.

She's Working Grandma

Boston (AP)—The tall blonde in veile and jeweled costume faces the nightclub audience and rhythmically rolls her hips with a deep secret: this belly dancer is the mother of 14 children.

Onstage she is "Shaara," fair-skinned Oriental dancer.

At home on Greenleaf Street, Springfield, Mass., she is Mrs. Guadalupe Garcia with 14 children and three grandchildren.

And there are times when she is Vicki Lynne, nightclub singer.

Mrs. Garcia sees nothing odd about this triple identity.

"I'm a working mother. I like to keep busy. When I couldn't get as many bookings as a singer as I wanted I took up as belly dancer. Now I'm either working one gig or another."

"Working a gig," she explains, means doing an act.

Mrs. Garcia has 10 daughters and four sons, ranging in age from 17 months to 23 years. Three of the girls are married. Mrs. Garcia's grandchildren are aged 8 months, 9 months and 18 months.

Union, Paper Reach Accord

New York (UPI) — The first major break in New York City's 22-day-old newspaper strike occurred Tuesday night when the printers union and the World Journal Tribune, Inc., reached agreement on all items in their dispute.

Still to be settled were contract negotiations between the new publishing company and eight other craft unions, and the newspaper guild.

Mediator David Cole, in announcing the agreement, said he hoped it would lead to a settlement of the remaining disputes.

Cole did not disclose details of the agreement with the printers union because such a disclosure might "prejudice" negotiations with the other unions.

The strike against the World Journal Tribune was called by the Newspaper Guild of New York April 24, one day before the new corporation, the World Journal Tribune Inc., was scheduled to put out its first editions.

The guild represents editorial and commercial employes of the former Journal-American, World-Telegram and Sun and the Herald Tribune, the papers merged to form the new corporation.

The guild wants the proposed dismissal of 904 of its 1,800 members formerly employed by the three newspapers to be based on seniority. The publishers want to keep certain staff members without regard to seniority.

Vandals Damage East High School

Construction company officials told police Tuesday that vandals broke into the East High School, under construction at 70th and D, and did about $500 damage.

Police said the damage included ripping out electrical wiring and electrical conduits, spreading tar on the walls, and similar destructive acts.

Moyers Can't Accept Award From Baptists

Washington (AP) — Bill D. Moyers, President Johnson's press secretary, has advised the radio-television commission of the Southern Baptist Convention that he cannot be in Detroit May 25 to accept its "Distinguished Communicator's Award."

Dr. Paul M. Stevens of Fort Worth, Tex., director of the commission, said here Tuesday that Moyers told him he expects to be out of the country May 25. There have been reports that Moyers is going to Viet Nam. Stevens said Moyers did not tell him where he was going.

The Washington Post said in a news story Tuesday that there had been criticism of Moyers by Southern Baptists since publication last week of a picture of him doing the Watusi at a benefit ball for the Washington Opera Society. Some Baptists regard dancing as improper and Moyers is an ordained minister.

The Post quoted the Oklahoma Journal as saying Moyers might skip the Detroit meeting because of such criticism.

Moyers could not be reached. He was admitted to Bethesda Naval Hospital Monday night after falling on a flight of stairs at the white house.

Moyers went home from the hospital Tuesday afternoon. He told aides by telephone that he had suffered a slight concussion but had no ill after effects except a headache.

Local Builders Consider Plastic Pipe

. . . CITY CODE BANS IT, BUT CHANGE POSSIBLE

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Plastic pipe, a product that may be the answer to a growing shortage of copper for plumbing in new homes, is undergoing extensive study by Lincoln plumbers, contractors and city inspection officials.

The newly-developed substitute for wastes and vents is not acceptable under the Lincoln city building code, but the Lincoln Association of Plumbing and Heating Contractors has designated members to investigate plastic pipe.

Working jointly with city departments and others, the plumbers expect to determine whether or not plastic pipe should be recommended for acceptance under the city building code.

Grades Of Quality

A problem with plastic pipe is its numerous grades of quality and difficulty in identifying acceptable quality, city plumbing inspector Roy Godwin explained.

Schedule 40, a very heavy plastic pipe, has been approved by the Federal Housing Authority (FHA) and in certain areas such as the entire state of South Dakota, Cleveland, Ohio, and Fremont in this state.

However, the Lincoln building people want to examine some criticisms of plastic pipe that have been aired, including the type of material used, rodent damage, means to thaw the pipes when frozen, and possibility of toxic fumes from the plastic if pipes are burned.

Although many think that plastic pipe is significantly lower priced than copper or other kinds of acceptable pipe, several Lincoln plumbing contractors pointed out that, according to their information, the heavy approved Schedule 40 plastic costs about the same as copper.

Copper Price Up

Under normal circumstances, one contractor said, noting that the price of copper pipe had jumped $1 per foot in the last six months, the heavy grade plastic pipe would be more expensive than copper.

Although copper shortages are expected to tighten the pipe supply even more, Everett Green, president of Green Furnace and Plumbing Co., said his checking revealed that no job in Lincoln is being held up for lack of copper. Builders, he added are reluctant to pay the price, however.

Two other kinds of pipe are acceptable for plumbing in Lincoln homes: galvanized steel pipe with cast iron drainage fittings and cast iron pipe. But they take more room in the house and are difficult to install, hiking labor costs, Godwin observed.

Plastic pipe is easy to install, he indicated, although it cannot be altered after it is joined.

The new product is used in some rural homes in areas where city sanitation requirements do not extend. More widely installed in farm buildings such as chicken houses and barns, the plastic pipe has been fairly effective, according to the city plumbing inspector.

In these farm uses, Godwin explained, the synthetic pipes carry cold water almost exclusively and are not subjected to the heavy, corroding pressure present in urban areas.

City Hiking Pool Prices

Mayor Dean Petersen has approved an increase in the price of admission to municipal swimming pools.

The fee increase was recommended by the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board earlier this spring due to a deficit in the swimming pool fund.

The new prices are: children under 12, 20 cents per swim on a daily basis or a swim card good for 50 swims for $7; adults (anyone 12 or over), 50 cents per swim or a $7 swim card good for 25 swims.

The old admission charges were 20 cents per swim and 50 swims for $6 for children and 35 cents per swim or 25 swims for $6 for adults.

City OKs Polsky's Concessions' Bid

The city has approved the bid of Max Polsky to operate concessions at Muny Swimming Pool and the municipal softball diamond.

Polsky's bid quoted a return to the ciy tof 14% of the gross sales at the pool and 7% of the gross sold at the ball field.

Australia Like Mars?

Ed Weaver Seeks GOP County Post

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln businessman Ed Weaver Jr. is being boomed as the man to succeed Arlen Beam as Lancaster County Republican chairman, The Star learned Tuesday.

Weaver, 38, is president of the Weaver Potato Chip Company.

"I have indicated that I would throw my hat in the ring," Weaver confirmed.

A new chairman will be elected to succeed Beam at the GOP county convention May 26. Beam announced last Sunday that he will step down after two years in the post.

Weaver has long been active in Republican politics and is a number of business activities, including the Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Industries of Nebraska.

Beam, who was elected by the 1964 convention, said he cannot spare time from his law practice to continue serving in the party post.

Democratic County Chairman Norman Krivosha will be a candidate for re-election at his party's county convention May 26.

Krivosha, 31, a Lincoln attorney, was first named to the post two years ago.

Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in the Cornhusker Hotel. The GOP convention will begin at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln Hotel.

Federal Funds To Aid Lexington Water Tower

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday announced that the Economic Development Administration has approved an $83,000 grant to help construct an elevated water storage tank at Lexington.

The $166,000 project will improve the city's water supply and fire protection, and provide for future industrial expansion. Lexington's share will be $83,000.

UAW Nominee

Olga Mary Madar, 51, has been nominated to the United Auto Workers executive board. She is the first woman in the AFL-CIO union's history so honored.

LBJ Boyhood Home Is U.S. Landmark

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — The National Historical Advisory Board has designated the Johnson City boyhood home of President Johnson a National Historical Landmark, U.S. Rep. J. J. Pickle said,

He was informed by Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall that the board felt the Johnson City home "has exceptional value in illustrating the history of the United States."

Johnson lived in the house from 1914, when he was 6, to 1924. His first political rally was held there in 1937 when he was elected to his first congressional office.

The home has already been declared a state historical landmark.

Alumni Group Plans 2-Day Culture Event

Two days of cultural activities for University of Nebraska alumni are being planned by University Alumni Association officials.

The annual two-day Alumni College will be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education June 2-3 and will be limited to the first 150 alumni who register, according to George Bastian, executive secretary of the Association.

The program will include a music performance, dramatic presentation, addresses by prominent alumni, businessmen and staff members, and a telelecture by Thomas F. Conlon of Washington, D.C., senior member of the U.S. Department of State.

Supermarkets Offer Advice: How To Beat Cost Of Living

Washington (AP) — The nation's supermarket industry, stung by government reports of sharply rising food prices and buyer resistance, dropped some broad hints Tuesday on how to beat the cost of living.

"Smart shopping" or "buysmanship," will help, suggested the National Association of Food Chains, representing 250 major firms.

The association, criticizing the government's consumer price index as a "poor indicator of the consumer's actual food bill," said it is urging some 20,000 affiliated chain stores to help housewives learn to get the most for their money.

First Statement

It was the first public statement from the industry on the past year's steady climb in living costs, most frequently blamed on grocery prices.

Food makes up 22.5% of the Labor Department's consumer price index, which each month measures a broad range of prices that soak up the typical family budget.

The March index was up 2.8% from a year earlier on overall living costs and up 7.2% for food alone.

The index is one of the major indicators of price trends and the threat of inflation.

April prices will be announced later this month.

"Whether the index is up, down or unchanged," the association said, "we expect it will be a front-page story and that food prices will be featured."

The association said the government index can be misleading because it "necessarily deals in national averages, which may or may not reflect what happened" in a particular locality.

Early Start Needed

Washington (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits said Republican moderates must get an early start in the race for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, or face possible conservative domination of the national convention.

Iowans To Try Bonds For New Bridge

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — The Iowa Highway Commission met Tuesday with the Highway Commission of Nebraska to discuss a proposed new bridge over the Missouri River at Sioux City.

Harry Bradley, chairman of the Iowa commission, flatly said his state does not have the money in its primary road fund to build a bridge.

To find a way to pay for the bridge, the Iowa commission decided to look to an unused amendment of the Iowa constitution that might allow the commission to issue bonds to build bridges. The commission decided to ask the attorney general's office for an opinion on whether issuing of bonds for bridge construction would be legal under the 1942 amendment to the state constitution.

The two commissions agreed that neither state now has the money available in primary road funds to build the bridge. One member of the Nebraska commission said if such a bridge is built, it probably would have to be under a "toll arrangement of some kind."

Bradley, after describing his state's financial situation with regard to bridge-building, said, "It would appear then that we will have to resort to bonding. That is the area we are looking into."

The two delegations decided to review "all the various proposals and legal aspects" — including a proposal that the two states issue bonds together to finance the bridge. The two commissions then will meet again in Lincoln June 27.

Dr. Marrs Stresses Service Unity

Dr. Theodore Marrs, deputy of Reserve and ROTC affairs in the office of the secretary of the Air Force, emphasized the necessity of joint efforts by all phases of the military services in an address here Tuesday commemorating Armed Forces Week.

Marrs, a medical doctor with specialities in pediatrics and aerospace medicine, spoke to some 150 Rotarians and members of the Chamber of Commerce in a joint meeting.

"Now more than at any other time the security of our nation and the success of efforts to preserve the peace" needs concerted action from all services and the citizenry as well as military, he declared.

Marrs praised the joint efforts of the services fighting in Viet Nam and explained the importance of backup forces and reserve support.

However, the Air Force medic expressed personal doubt about the armed forces policy of holding reserves back and using Selective Service to provide all forces for the Vietnamese conflict.

The administrative idea is that the strength of the Reserves is greater if they do not have to be called up, he said.

However, he added, it is also emphasized that "military security is the responsibility of all elements in all servcies."

The armed forces, according to Marrs, is committed to President Johnson's warning that "freedom is indivisible. Freedom is not secure in America when it is denied any place else on earth."

Russians Switch Envoy In Romania

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union, faced with Romanian demands for a shake-up in the Warsaw Pact structure, has changed its representative at the pact's Romanian headquarters, informed sources said Tuesday night.

The sources said Col. Gen. Georgi Romanov, the assistant commander of the Moscow military area, had been appointed permanent representative in Bucharest. The pact has national headquarters in the capitals of each of its seven active member nations.

The immediate significance of the change was not known. But the sources said it was connected with three developments:

—Romania's demand for a new deal for Russia's six pact allies and an easing of Moscow's big-brother relations to them.

—Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev's sudden secret trip to Bucharest last week.

—The Warsaw Pact summit meeting in Bucharest in July which is expected to make serious decisions on the pact's future.

Outwardly, the Kremlin appeared undisturbed by Romania's actions. But it seemed to be moving behind the scenes Tuesday to plumb the depth of the trouble.

Soviet Deputy Premier Mikhail Yefremov, an expert in relations between the Communist states of Eastern Europe, met with Romanian Ambassador T. Marinescu, Tass said.

The Soviet news agency did not say what they talked about. But qualified observers said Romania's recent letter questioning the whole arrangement of the Warsaw Pact certainly came up.

Patient Gets Man-Made Heart No. 2

Houston, Tex. (AP)—A second heart patient underwent a successful partial artificial heart implant Tuesday and Methodist Hospital said he was doing quite well.

The patient, Walter L. McCans, 61, of Woodinville, Wash., was awake, the hospital said in a statement issued more than four hours after the operation was completed.

The statement said that McCans had "rather severe left ventricular heart failure" and the basic reason for the surgery was to insert an aortic ball valve.

Last month famed heart surgeon Dr. Michael E. DeBakey performed a historic similar operation on Marcel DeRudder, 65, former Illinois coal miner.

A partial artificial heart was implanted in DeRudder's chest. He lived nearly five days before dying of a ruptured left lung, the last of several complications that developed following the surgery.

At the time of his death the artificial heart was working normally, the hospital said. DeRudder lived longer than any other patient who had undergone surgery, doctors said.

In Tuesday's operation, the hospital statement only said that the surgery was successfully performed by its cardiovascular team.

Senate Okays Anti-Nuclear Spread Effort

Washington (AP)—The Senate gave unanimous support 84 to 0 Tuesday to efforts by President Johnson to limit the spread of nuclear weapons.

After listening to soleumn warnings about possible future nuclear destruction, it formally approved a resolution urging the chief executive to push for a non-proliferation agreement.

Co-sponsored by 60 senators—more than a majority—the resolution previously had been approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Senate members of the Joint Atomic Committee.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., told his colleagues the US. nuclear bomb lost and recovered recently off the coast of Spain contained half the explosive power of all the bombs and bullets used by both sides in World War II.

He cited this as an example of the terrible power of nuclear weapons in urging Senate passage of the resolution.

Although supporting the resolution on a nuclear treaty, Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., told the Senate a proposed new nuclear weapons proposal for Western Europe, backed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, "could trigger off atomic war."

Iraq Not Negotiating

Beirut, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi government officially denied reports that it was negotiating with Iran to settle border disputes between the two countries, according to a statement broadcast by Baghdad Radio.

EDWARD WANIOLEK

Arraign Man In Shooting Of Trotskyite

Detroit (AP)—Edward Waniolek, accused by police as the man who shot up a Socialist Workers Party office Monday, stood mute Tuesday when arraigned on a murder charge.

Judge David L. Golden ordered Waniolek, 40, of Detroit, returned to jail without bond and set examination for May 26. Conviction of first-degree murder in Michigan carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

Police arrested Waniolek hours after three young men were shot in an office of the Socialist Workers Party here. One victim, Leo Bernard, 28, identified by the Trotskyite party as a member, was killed.

Jan Edward Garrett, 22, and Walter Graham, 19, students at Wayne State University and identified as members of the Young Socialist Alliance, were shot four times each. Graham's condition was reported critical Tuesday and Garrett's serious.

Police said Graham and Garrett identified Waniolek from a photograph as the man who entered the office, said, "You're all communists," and opened fire with an automatic pistol.

China Has 'Proof' Of U.S. Intrusion

Tokyo (AP)—Red China declared Tuesday it has photographs to prove U.S. fighters intruded over mainland China and shot down a Chinese trainer plane with guided missiles last Thursday.

Peking's official New China News Agency, in a broadcast monitored here, said, "Today we make public photographs showing the remains of the guided missiles and auxiliary fuel tanks jettisoned by the U.S. aircraft."

Peking charged last week five American planes intruded over Makwan, Yunnan province, about 25 miles above North Viet Nam's border, and shot down a Chinese plane in the dogfight.

A U.S. State Department spokesman said the United States had no information to indicate that U.S. fighter planes had entered China's air space.

"We can tell them that the fragments of the missiles used by the U.S. pirate planes to attack the Chinese trainer plane after they had intruded into China's air space, and the seven auxiliary fuel tanks jettisoned by them, have fallen in the area northeast of Makwan, in the Chinese province of Yunnan," the Chinese agency said.

"Does this mean that the intrusion took place 'over North Viet Nam'? Is it conceivable that Chinese aircraft could have carried the auxiliary fuel tanks of the U.S. fighter planes into Chinese territory?

"In the face of these irrefutable items of evidence, U.S. imperialism cannot, try as it may, deny its crime of deliberately setting itself counter to the Chinese people and making this grave war provocation against them."

Dodd's Depositions To Be Public

Washington (UPI) — Attorneys for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., lost an attempt Tuesday to have depositions in his $5 million conspiracy and libel case against two columnists temporarily kept secret.

Federal District Judge Alexander Holtzoff refused to seal depositions in Dodd's suit against Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Holtzoff ruled last Friday that the actual taking of pretrial depositions would be secret. His ruling Tuesday will make the depositions available to the public as soon as they have been filed with the court.

In Hawaiian legends they say the rainbow was born here. At Hanalei near road's end on the island of Kauai.

It is a sleepy little village. Two general stores. Two dozen stilted-up houses. It lies between the bright blue crescent of the sea and the gray-green peaks where waterfalls drop in slow motion spray.

The Hanalei River runs through a green valley of rice and taro patch. Along the shore, the tall coco palms lean against the prevailing trade wind. The heavy fronds rattle in the breeze like loose shutters.

On a green, clipped lawn is the old frame Waioli mission church. (It means "chanting waters.")

And behind it, under shade trees, is the white frame mission house. A piece of New England transported in the 1820s to the soft, savage land.

☆ ☆ ☆

In this enchanting setting, the movie people came and made "South Pacific."

It enchanted the villagers. They quit hoeing the taro patch and stopped padding around the rice paddies.

They tuned their ukuleles to "Some Enchanged Evening"—for that was what it was.

When the show was over, a hotel man named Lyle Guslander built a "1.5 million hotel—a replica in some ways of the French planter's house—up on the bluff.

The villagers all went to work in the hotel. The girl who brings the morning banana pancakes is somebody you probably saw in the mob scenes.

There's a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

☆ ☆ ☆

Auwe! Vacations (like rainbows) must have an end. (Where did it go?) From the House of Happy Talk breezy bar, I can look across the indigo water to where the Na Pali cliffs rise to lush valleys where no man has ever walked.

King Kaumualii, six feet, four and rosy cheeks, was snatched from here by Queen Kaahumanu from gay Honolulu. A sporty old girl, she married him and his son, too.

Kaumualii already had a wife, Queen Deborah Kapule. But those were swinging days. (The missionaries later persuaded Queen Kaahumanu to give up her swing shift husbands. And all's well that ends well.)

The interesting thing to me is that both these Queens stood six feet and weighed better than 300 pounds. It was a heavyweight league.

☆ ☆ ☆

Where did the time go? It seems only yesterday I shed my shoes. Got behind a rummy mai tai and let the sun go down in a great splash of gold.

For one month I didn't put on shoe leather—even tennis shoes killed me.

I answered the phone four times—once each week. (No news. That's good news.)

I didn't see a single television show. (Poor reception. Hurray!)

I didn't go to a movie. (Mostly in Japanese. Banzai!)

I ate golden papaya melon and fresh pineapple. Sweet Hawaiian beef and Japanese sukiyaki and hekka. Pancakes with coconut syrup and coffee from the Kona coast.

I swam in water 72 degrees. Cracked open coconuts from trees in the front yard. Ducked one invitation — because it required coat and tie.

☆ ☆ ☆

I rose in the morning and said: "I really should call up Joe What's-his-name before we leave.

I said, "I must write a letter to old Whoosis. Maybe tomorrow."

I bought a lot of postcards. But never got around to writing on them.

And here we are at the end of the rainbow Auwe! Say it isn't so.

Fulbright Regrets His Remarks About Viet Nam

Washington (UPI)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday he regretted making his recent statements about "the arrogance of power" and about Saigon being "an American brothel."

The reason, he said, was not because "of the meaning I attached to them, but because they lent themselves to interpretations I did not intend."

In a speech at the National Press Club, he blamed the U.S. press for these interpretations. President Johnson seized on the "arrogance" remark in a speech last week in a ringing defense of his Viet Nam policy.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the press "has some responsibility to make clear the distinction between an idea and an accusation and also to make some reference to the major theme of a senator's speech, if not actually to summarize its contents."

Three Remarks

He listed three remarks — "minor observations" — he said he regretted having made because of the furor they aroused.

The first was in New York when, on April 28, he said, "America is showing some signs of that fatal presumption, that over-extension of power and mission, which brought ruin to ancient Athens, to Napoleonic France and to Nazi Germany."

He said he regretted several things about the statement. "I regret that I neglected to make it clear that I was talking about the extent, not the character, of a nation's aspirations; the distinction between Hitler's design for conquest and America's desire to do good in the world seemed to me so obvious as to be unnecessary to mention.

Disabused

"I have now been thoroughly disabused of that notion," he said.

On May 5, in a lecture here, he discussed "the arrogance of power."

Fulbright said Tuesday he did not "charge any American official with arrogance in the exercise of power."

His speech, he said, "was not about the arrogance of any individuals who hold power but about the tendency of powerful nations, of which the United States is the current example, to get puffed up about all the terrific things they think they ought to be doing with their power."

Based On Reports

Finally there was the "brothel" remark in the same May 5 speech, which he said was based on reports in reputable newspapers and magazines.

"I am certainly not an authority on the morals and the recreational activities of American soldiers, but thanks to the newspapers I am rapidly becoming one," he said.

He told the press, "I think you have some responsibility for conveying the essence of messages and not just those parts which lend themselves to controversy. The failure at times to do so is my only important complaint about the press, and I hope I have made it clear that my complaint has to do with what is emphasized, not what is criticized."

House Committee Blasts McNamara

Washington (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee sharply criticized policies of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Tuesday in its formal report on the $17.9 billion military procurement bill and said that on military matters Congress must share in decision making.

"No longer must Congress be a who-body, someting halfway between a nobody and a somebody,'' chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said.

Rivers revealed the major highlights in the report nearly two weeks ago when the committee reported out the bill and added $931 million more than asked by the administration.

The report contained numerous statements critical of Defense Department policy and directly or indirectly of McNamara.

At one point it said:

"Too often, it is feared, the almost obsessional dedication to cost effectiveness raises the specter of a decision-maker who, as it has been said, knows the price of everything and the value of nothing. In a matter of such great moment as our military posture, the very key to our survival, the Congress must not be a who-body, something halfway between a nobody and somebody. It must call the shots as it sees them."

Among major items added to the bill were funds for a nuclear powered frigate; extension of authority for another such vessel, and $22.8 million for development of a new manned bomber as a successor to the B52.

The new bomber has been a center of controversy for weeks between Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., and McNamara over a report issued by Hebert's subcommittee investigating contemplated changes in the strategic bombing force.

Probing Decisions

Rivers said in a statement accompanying the report that the committee had been probing decisions made by McNamara and "we are going to continue this kind of surveillance over the Pentagon."

"The day of the sometimes blind leading the frequently bland is past," he declared.

The report hit hard at the Defense Department view on nuclear powered naval surface vessels, calling it "a most unimaginative approach."

The bill as reported by the committee also contains language aimed to require the secretary of defense to consult Congress before making any decision to eliminate a major weapons system.

This stemmed from McNamara's announcement B58 bombers and older B52s will be phased out by 1971 and a lesser number of FB111s introduced into the long-range strategic force.

Penn Dem Race Close; Shafer Wins GOP Nod

Philadelphia (AP) — Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer won the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania Tuesday night.

On the Democratic side, organization-backed Robert P. Casey trailed Milton Shapp, a Philadelphia industrialist with nearly half the state tabulated.

Shapp stepped aside two years ago when the party leaders bypassed him for the U.S. Senate nominaiton but declared an all-out fight — some estimates were that he put $1 million into the campaign—after Casey, a 34-year-old state senator, won state committee endorsement for governor.

Casey had 233,979 to 237,449 for Shapp and 19,679 for State Rep. Erwin Murray with 4,287 of 9,393 precincts reported.

Shapp, 53, the first Jew ever to seek a major party nomination for governor in Pennsylvania, ran well in Philadelphia, where City Chairman Frank Smith had predicted a 70,000-vote margin for Casey.

Casey, a Roman Catholic, had 105,892 to 112,352 for Shapp in Philadelphia, with all but 44 of the city's 1,700-odd precincts tallied.

The late Walter E. Alessandroni, Republican-organization choice for lieutenant governor, was rolling up a 2-1 margin over Blair Gunther, an Allegheny County commissioner. GOP leaders, including Gov. William W. Scranton, called for the nomination of Alessandroni, who was killed in an airplane crash just before the primary, to enable the state committee to select an alternate nominee.

3-MILE-HIGH MOUNTAINS ON MARS ARE POSSIBLE

Vienna (UPI) — Mountains three miles high may exist on the planet Mars, the Conference of the Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) was told Tuesday.

The disclosure was made by Dr. Arvydas J. Kloire of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif.

The scientist said studies of radio measurements from the Mariner 4 spacecraft showed that regions on the surface of Mars may vary in height by about three miles.

Mariner registered temperatures on the Martian surface varying from 145 degrees below zero in the southern area to 35 below in the planet's northern area.

The Martian atmosphere was found to have a pressure of from 4 to 10 millibars, compared to the earth's atmospheric pressure of 1,000 millibars. Ten millibars would correspond to the pressure on earth at an altitude of 102,000 feet, Dr. Kliore said.

In another report to the conference, Dr. Richard M. Goldstein, also of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said recent findings established that the planet Venus is rotating only once every 243 days, so that one Venus day equals about 121 earth days.

The direction of Venus' rotation is opposite that of the earth. An observer on Venus would see the sun rise in the west and set in the east, the scientist said.

LBJ Rips 'Nervous Nellies'

Chicago (AP)—President Johnson, forecasting a difficult road ahead in Viet Nam, said Tuesday night "some Nervous Nellies" will turn on their country, but predicted Americans ultimately "will stand united until every boy is brought home safely."

In a speech to a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, Johnson defended his Viet Nam policy and declared that his aim is peace—"I want the killing to stop."

But he said the communist side has shown no willingness to negotiate and added:

"Any person who wishes to test us can give us the time and the date and the place and he will find us occupying our chair at the negotiating table with any government who genuinely and sincerely seeks to talk instead of fight."

Strong Words

In some of the strongest language he has yet applied to his critics, Johnson said:

"There will be some Nervous Nellies and some who will become frustrated and bothered and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country and their own fighting men."

While saying "the road ahead is going to be difficult" and foreseeing "times of trial and tension," Johnson said:

"But I have not the slightest doubt that the courage and the dedication and good sense of the American people will ultimately prevail. They will stand united until every boy is brought home safely, until the gallant people of South Viet Nam have their own choice of their own government."

Turning to the November elections, Johnson proposed a test for all officeholders and candidates.

"I ask you," he said, "to read the statements of every public official and of every candidate for every office and read them carefully, then judge for yourselves. Ask yourselves, 'Is he helping the cause of his country or is he advancing the cause of himself? Is he trying to draw us together and unite our land, or is he trying to pull us apart to promote himself?'"

He Asks It

He said, "This is the measuring stick that I ask the people of America to use."

Johnson lauded Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who faces a November challenge from Charles H. Percy.

The crowd that greeted Johnson in Chicago's Loop was relatively small for this heavily Democratic city. And at one point, he was within earshot of chants from some 250 demonstrators waving placards with such legends as, "Kill for mom" and "Bloodfinger" — a reference to his conduct of the Viet Nam war.

Johnson said he was elected to the presidency as a Democrat but "as commander-in-chief, I am neither a Democrat or a Republican."

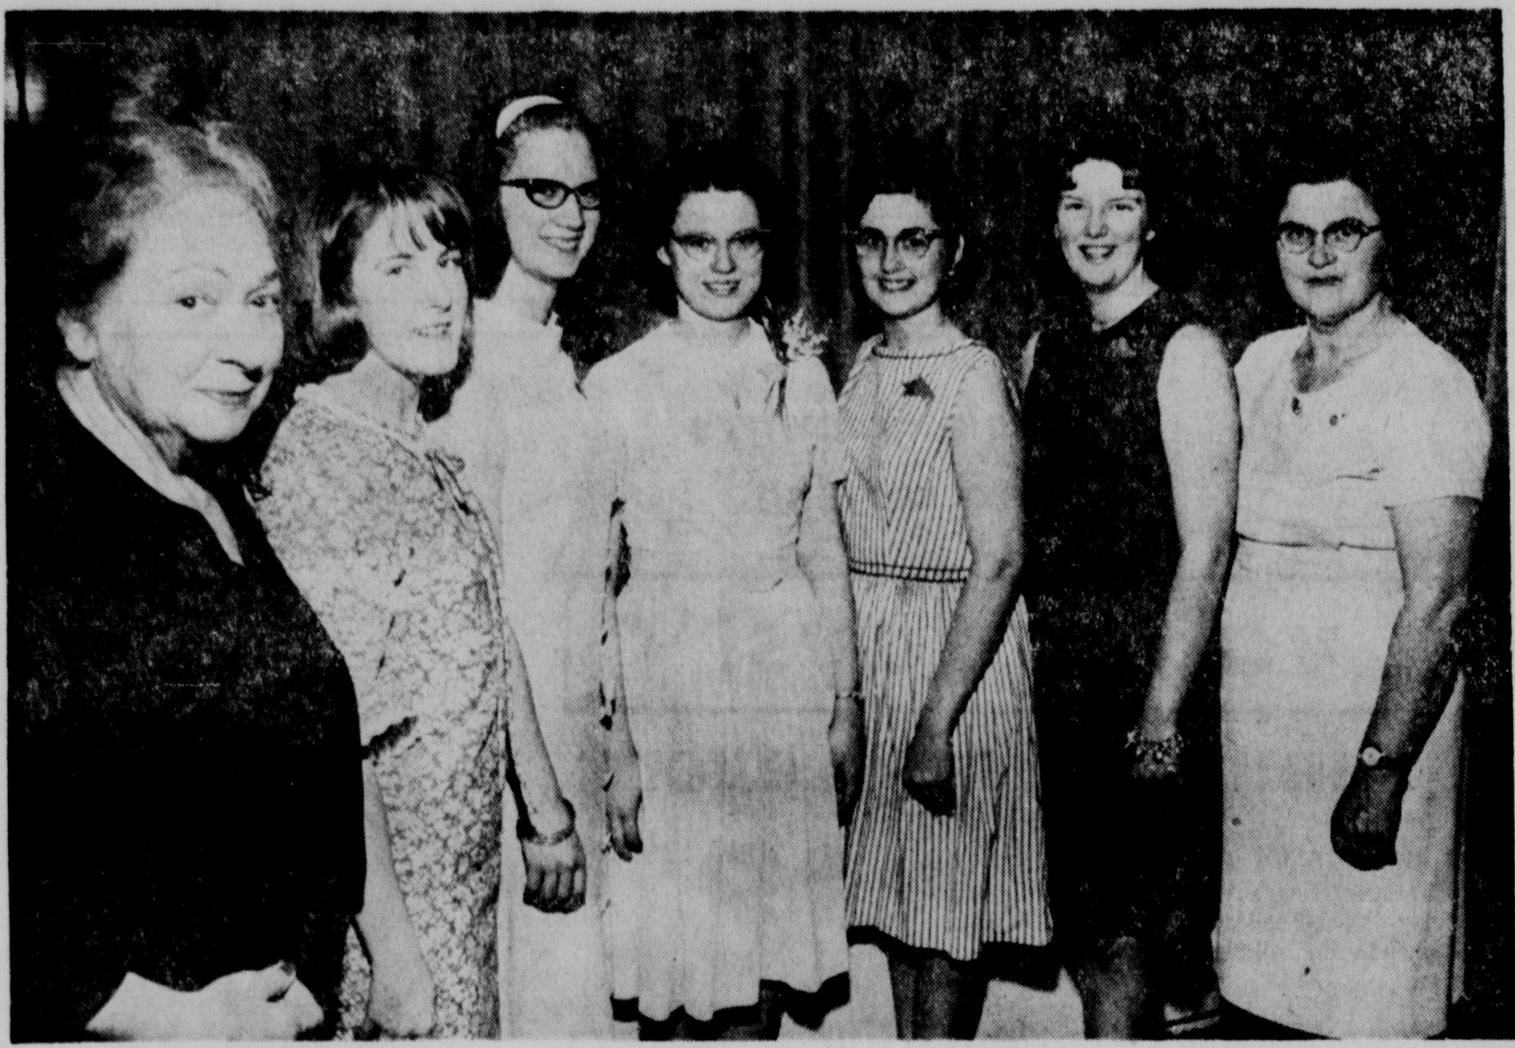
TOP scholars are honored by Altrusa



The top feminine scholars of Lincoln's five high schools were the honored guests Monday evening when the Altrusa Club entertained at a program held at the Pioneer Apartments.

Also honored during the evening was Mrs. George Abel, a member of the organization, who was presented an honorary life membership for her contributions to Altrusa projects.

The top scholars included Margaret Angle, Inta Jozeps and Cathryn Pfund, Lincoln High; Seanne Detmer, Jane Swanson and Sandra Gerbeling, Northeast High; Catherine Shugrue, Inese Civkulis and Mary Lynn Fouts, Pius High; Susan Beachly, Linda Varvel and Susan Smith, Southeast High; Elizabeth Miller and Kathleen Clark, University High.

From the left are Mrs. Abel, Cathy Shugrue, Linda Varvel, Inta Jozeps, Elizabeth Miller, Seanne Detmer and Mrs. Willard Dunigan, Altrusa Club president.

TALK around the town

Lincoln is in the publication spotlight again this month—The May issue of the International Parks and Recreation, one of the more attractive slick paper magazines, gives considerable space (with pictures) to the Lincoln Children's Zoo. Arnott Folsom, with whom the idea of the zoo originated, was asked to do the article—and he did. But Mr. Folsom tells us that the magazine editors did some editing and re-phrasing, but that's a small detail considering the space that was devoted to the zoo story. The article is illustrated with three pictures of the zoo — Zooville Square, the Animal Compound, and the Stegosaurus Fountain.

Yesterday was party day for Miss Judy Sorenson whose marriage to Bruce Wright will be solemnized early in June. The prenuptial courtesy was a luncheon for which Mrs. John H. Comstock, Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis and Mrs. Eber Tice were hostesses at the University Club. Places were arranged for 14, and following the luncheon the bride-elect was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

• • •

Another of the June brides-elect is Miss Kathy Adams whose marriage to Thomas C. Brandzel will be solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, June 2. One Saturday afternoon, May 28, Miss Adams will be complimented by Mrs. Robert Walters who will be a hostess at her home. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a kitchen shower—

Now back to last Sunday—May 15 — and the dinner for which Dr. and Mrs. Harold Hellweg will be host and hostess when they pay courtesy to Miss Adams and her fiance. The guest list will include members of the families—And then there is Sunday, May 8—and the afternoon party and kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Hamlin Graham, with Mrs. Graham and her daughter, Mrs. Michael McCunn as hostesses.

There have been numerous courtesies for Miss Adams—and we'll mention them another day.

Speaker

Guest speaker at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Pershing Mothers Club was Dr. Donald Clifton of the University of Nebraska Teachers College faculty.

The program also included the presentation of a track trophy to 4th grade boys by Harland Johnson of the Northeast YMCA.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to voice a complaint against teen-agers in general. A teenager had a transistor radio on a public bus yesterday, and he just about blasted the whole busload of passengers off the bus with rock and roll music. Why don't those teen-agers show a little respect for the rights of others?

ADULT

DEAR ADULT: Why condemn ALL teen-agers? Only one was guilty. The bus driver (an adult) was responsible for the comfort of his passengers. Didn't he shirk his duty?

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Why would a man with real animal magnetism repeatedly invite a woman out to dinner, tell her he's had a wonderful evening, kiss her goodnight at her door, and then call another woman and remain with her until dawn? I am no prude, neither am I underage.

I am a 44-year-old divorcee, normal in every respect, and am not unattractive. I have invited this gentleman to come in for a nightcap, but he has always politely declined. I know he will take a few drinks, so that's not it. This is not just guesswork. I am sure of my facts.

NO NIGHTCAP

DEAR NO NIGHTCAP: Either the gentleman regards you too highly to risk unleashing the animal in him which might escape should he start "nightcapping" with you. (This is a compliment.) Or else he is "nightcapping" with someone else. (This is an insult.) Get a few more facts and react accordingly.

NEWS of the suburban areas

This morning we're taking a bird's eye view of the suburban situation and catching up on the social activity all across the city. There's been many a surprise lately — like the birthday in Wedgewood. There's been visitors a'plenty — parents arriving in the Bethany Park Heights area and uncles and aunts invading the residents of Kimberly Heights. And for the future — there are vacation plans in Lincoln Heights.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Two weeks ago in a familiar manner, "Mommism" spread to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Becker in the Bethany Park Heights area May 8 when Mr. Becker's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Becker, traveled from their home in Stanton, Iowa, to spend the day. Mrs. L. H. Bussmann motored to Lincoln with the Beckers and spent part of the visit with her son Bob, a junior in Teacher's College at the University of Nebraska.

WEDGEWOOD

How many times a year do you mechanically swing your car into the driveway, flip up the garage door and pull in? Right, innumerable times. So, you possibly can feature the total astonishment of William Zeitz when he pulled into his drive, whipped up the garage door and found almost thirty of his friends and neighbors shouting "Happy Birthday" last Monday, May 9.

Needless to say the party was successful as a surprise but it also provided some very unique gifts for Mr. Zeitz, such as a walking cane with a bottle of Geritol attached, an embroidered night shirt and a multitude of other clever hand-made presents.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

Brightening the spring season for Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crossley was a memorable week of "paradise" spent in Hawaii. The travelers, who made the trip by plane, returned home Sunday from the 50th state where Mr. Crossley attended an insurance convention. For Mrs. Crossley, the entire week was devoted strictly to pleasure.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

We would like to take you back to the very first weekend of May so that we might mention Mrs. Howard Frey's house guests from Kansas. Joining Mrs. Frey from Friday until Sunday were her uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coatman of Ellsworth, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Blackstone of Minneapolis, Kan. The gay weekend included a try at square dancing on Saturday evening as the five attended the Square Dance Festival at Pershing Auditorium.

TRENDWOOD

Despite this general trend of according a great deal of attention to the youngsters, for some strange reason mothers seem to have received quite a bit of attention the weekend of May 7 and 8. One such mother, Mrs. Ralph Sherman of Tecumseh, warranted a Sunday visit from her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Merl Sherman and their children of Trendwood.

SOUTH HILLS

The social activity around the Dale Stephens home did not end with the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith for Pacific Junction, Iowa, on Sunday, May 8. Rather, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens welcomed 17 relatives into their home Monday evening, May 9, for a dessert, including a cake decorated with birthday tidbits, which belonged to Dennis Stephens who was observing anniversary number five.

Club, PTA Elections

Mrs. Emma E. McGuire has been elected president of the Lincoln Career Women's Club.

Other new officers are Mrs. Louise M. Brown, vice president; Mrs. O. E. Krokstrom, secretary; Miss Elfrieda Bastron, treasurer; and board members, Mrs. George Stout, Miss Helen Warden and Mrs. Edith Holman.

New officers of the Alpha Tau Omega Auxiliary are Mrs. John Brickson, president; Mrs. Marvin Robinson, vice president; Mrs. H. W. Mayfield, secretary; and Mrs. W. C. Harding, treasurer

Elected president of Hartley PTA recently was Philip Cole. Also named to office were Mrs. Warren Sahs, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Curtiss, second vice president; John Luebs, treasurer; Mrs. Franklin Brennfoerder, secretary; and Wallace Cowden, auditor.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

Here is a well-defended hand. South got to two notrump and West led the queen of spades. East took it with the ace and led back the king of hearts!

Without this play, South would have had no trouble making the contract. Thus, let's suppose that East had made the more prosaic return of a club.

In that case South would win the club with the ace and establish four diamond tricks by leading the king and then the ten (overtaking with the jack) to force out the ace. He would make eight tricks consisting of a spade, a heart, four diamonds and two clubs.

The extraordinary heart return in effect pulled the rug out from under declarer's feet. It gave South an extra heart trick he would ordinarily not have made, but at the same time it prevented him from enjoying dummy's diamonds.

Declarer took the heart with the ace and played a low diamond to the king, West playing the three, and continued with the ten of diamonds to the jack, West playing the four.

West's play of the three followed by the four indicated he had at least one more diamond, and thus made it easy for East to take the jack without worrying whether South had the missing diamond.

Had West been dealt only the 4-3 of diamonds, he would have played the four and then the three to show a doubleton. In such case, East would have ducked the jack, knowing that South had the missing eight.

However, the really dramatic play of the hand was East's return of the king of hearts, which signified a complete willingness to throw away a trick in an attempt to nullify dummy's diamonds.

Program

The theme, "An Invitation to Memories", was presented by the program speakers at the Monday evening meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club. Introduced by Mrs. Don Crosier as toastmistress, speakers and their topics were Mrs. Josephine Eyen, "A Happy Land"; Mrs. E. L. Reeker, "Travel Memories"; and Mrs. Dorothy Cristy, "One Tired Elephant".

Club member, Mrs. Charity Greene, will go to Minneapolis this weekend to participate in the international organization's annual regional speech contest. Mrs. Greene is the winner of the Lincoln club's contest and the Cornhusker Council's contest, held April 24. Also attending the regional meeting will be Mrs. Robert J. Meyerhoff, Council Chairman.

Auxiliary

The Farm House Auxiliary will hold its May meeting Thursday afternoon at the chapter house. The 1:30 o'clock program will include a talk by a foreign student at the University of Nebraska, as well as election of club officers.

Smooth Away Dry Wrinkles

Wrinkles are really "river-beds" of dry cells caused by the plasma colloids (water carriers of the skin) drying out through the passage of time and harsh weather. Cherish the true beauty of your skin and smooth away surface wrinkle-dryness by asking your druggist for a little oil of Olay and using it on the face and neck before applying make-up. This tropical moist oil will protect the loveliness of your complexion, giving it a delightful, dewy bloom.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Sanders Still A Swashbuckler

Doug Sanders, the leading money winner of the PGA tour this year, may have slowed down a bit from his early days as a swashbuckler, but not so you could tell it.

Sanders, who on successive days at the Masters wore ensembles from head to toe of orange, blue, white, green and red, admits he still manages to live it up.

Speaking of girls, Sanders explains, "I don't have to beat 'em off with a stick, but there are enough. If I had enough stock in the phone company and Cutty Sark, I could live off the money I spend."

Wisconsin Quarterback Stars

Nebraska wasn't the only team conducting a spring intrasquad football game Saturday in which a rookie quarterback out-did the veterans.

Wisconsin, the Husker opponent Oct. 8 in Madison, Wis., found quarterback John Boyajian stealing the headlines from Chuck Burt, who called signals for the Badgers against NU last fall in Lincoln.

Boyajian completed 12 of 23 pass attempts for 131 yards, including a 10-yarder to Lee Swank in the final quarter that gave his Cardinal team a 12-7 win over the Whites. Burt completed six of 17 for 66 yards.

Golfers Top Archers

Six Hastings golfers defeated six Hastings archers in a golf-archery duel at Hastings' Lochland Country Club last week with the golfers using 488 strokes and the archers taking 519 shots to get around the 18 holes at Lochland.

A target was set up behind each green for the archers to shoot at and they had to proceed down the fairway with their bows and arrows just as the golfers did with clubs and ball.

However, the archers did have one handicap. They couldn't shoot at their target from within 20 yards. If they got within 20 yards, they had to move back to the 20-yard mark and putt (shoot) from there.

"You have to do that," explains Lochland pro Jack Weingart, "because you couldn't have them shooting at the target from three or four yards away."

An archer who hit within the small bullseye was charged with one putt; in the next larger circle with two putts and in the next with three putts.

Al Blessing with 73 and Hal Smith with 77 topped the golf scores while Dr. George Hoffmeister had a 76 for the archers and Del Austin and Dr. Robert Sneller each used 80 shots with the bow and arrow.

Fishermen Enjoy Success

Fishermen are enjoying success at scattered points in Nebraska the past few days.

Bill Muzurak, a 16-year-old Lincolnite who lives at 1001 Eldon Drive, pulled out a four-pound, two-ounce largemouth bass from Holmes Park Lake.

And Bruce Schlaebitz of Lincoln reports trout fishing is good at Merritt's Dam Lake near Valentine where four fishermen hauled in 24 trout in two hours of fishing.

Changes At Riverside

Many of the state's golfers will get their first look at Grand Island Riverside Golf Club's new nine holes when they tee off there in the sixth annual Tournament of Champions June 11-12.

And those who played it after the new nine was opened last August will find some changes. For instance, balls will be out of bounds if hit into the No. 6 fairway from the No. 7 tee, into the No. 5 fairway from the eighth tee and into the seventh fairway from No. 12 tee.

The new nine holes makes the course play 6,330 yards with par 37-35—72. Riverside pro Merle Backlund holds the course record for the new layout with a 67, which he needed to beat his opponents for the day with Wally Hopp of Hastings shooting a 68 and Jack Weingart, pro at Hastings Lochland, shooting a 69.

16 To Bid For U.S. Open Spots At LCC

. . . NINE PROS, SEVEN AMATEURS ENTER 36-HOLE QUALIFYING TEST

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The largest field of the last four years will go after spots in the U.S. Open Golf Tournament in local qualifying Monday at the Lincoln Country Club.

Sixteen golfers — nine pros and seven amateurs — will bid for three spots in Monday's 36-hole qualifying round. The trio will then move to sectional qualifying June 6 or 7 at their choice of Denver or Kansas City.

Heading the list of entries at the Lincoln Country Club are Bob Astleford, reigning Nebraska State Amateur champion and a qualifier in the Open last year, and Merle Backlund, pro at Grand Island's Riverside Golf Club who qualified Monday for a spot in the National PGA Tournament.

Astleford missed the 36-hole cut at St. Louis' Bellerive Country Club in last summer's U.S. Open by a single stroke after winning the local qualifying at the Lincoln Country Club and finishing second in sectional qualifying at Denver.

The Nebraska champion's amateur status is still under investigation by the USGA and his name on the entry list carries an asterisk beside it with the notation that his status as an amateur is undetermined.

Astleford and Fremont amateur Jack Flatt were Nebraska's entries from local qualifying last year. Flatt failed in sectional qualifying at St. Louis and did not enter this year's qualifying.

Among the seven amateurs entered are Matt Taber, Lincoln's city champion, and Charlie Borner, No. 1 man on the University of Nebraska golf team this spring.

The top pro contenders entered figure to be, in addition to Backlund, John Frillman, who finished four strokes behind Backlund in Monday's PGA qualif[illegible] at Omaha's Benson Park; Tom Hornbuckle, the new pro at Omaha's Miracle Hills; and Gary Gruenemeier, York Country Club pro and a former Lincoln city champion.

The 16 entires in Lincoln are a part of a record field of 2,512, which will be whittled down to 151 players for the start of the Open.

Lincoln's 16 entries tops such larger cities as New Orleans with only nine and Minneapolis with only 13.

This year's Open will be played June 16-19 at the Olympic Club course in San Francisco.

Lincoln Country Club entries and pairings for Monday as furnished by USGA headquarters in New York City:

Charlie Borner, Lincoln amateur, and Gary Gruenemeier, York Country Club pro.

Gale Herbst, Omaha amateur, and Tom Hornbuckle, Omaha Mircale Hills pro.

Robert Galonka, Columbus amateur, and Lyle Teel, Kearney pro.

Al Ludwig, Omaha amateur, and Jack Weingart, Hastings Lochland Country Club pro.

Matt Taber, Lincoln amateur, and Doug Orr, Offutt Air Force Base pro.

Dean Wilson, Omaha amateur, and Merle Backlund, Grand Island Riverside Golf Club pro.

Bob Astleford, Omaha amateur, and Mike Gallagher, Omaha Happy Hollow Country Club pro.

Wally Hopp, Hastings pro, and John Frillman, Omaha Happy Hollow Country Club pro.

Brunzell Declared Ineligible

The field for this year's State High School Golf Tournament, cut for the first time in history by district qualifying, may be reduced considerably more before the golfers tee off Friday morning at Norfolk in Class A and Lincoln in Class B.

The first to be hit by an ineligibility ruling from the Nebraska School Activities Association Tuesday was Lincoln Southeast's Scott Brunzell, who led district qualifying at Pioneers Park Friday with a one-under-par 71.

Brunzell was notified by Southeast officials Tuesday afternoon that he would not be allowed to participate in the Class A meet at Norfolk Friday because he had played in the Early Bird Open Golf Tournament at Nebraska City Sunday where he finished second to Don Bell of Plattsmouth.

Brunzell was declared ineligible under the NSAA rule which reads, "Any boy who participates on any athletic team other than a team representing his school during the season of that particular sport in his school becomes ineligible to represent his school in that sport during the remainder of the school year."

Although the rule makes no mention of an athlete participating as an individual in outside competition, NSAA executive secretary C. C. Thompson told The Lincoln Star Tuesday night that the rule has, for several years, been interpreted to prohibit individual participation as well.

"I don't even know the boy's name," Thompson said Tuesday night. "All, I know is that a Southeast boy apparently is ineligible because he participated in a golf tournament other than one involving his school.

"It was brought to my attention when Darwin Salestrom (Southeast athletic director) called me to ask about substitutisg a boy on their team for the state meet.

"At the same time, he posed the question about a boy's eligibility if he participated in a golf tournament that did not involve being a member of his high school team and I told him this would make a boy ineligible for the remainder of the school year."

Thompson indicated he would make no effort to trace down the names of all boys who may have participated in the tourney at Nebraska City or of any other tournament.

"I will not run down rumors," he said. "However, if a report comes to me that a boy did violate the rule we are talking about, I will check out that report."

DOANE GETS TRACK WIN

Plainsmen 2nd In W-Club Test

. . . 13 RECORDS SET

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

The expected assault on the record book became a reality Tuesday night as 13 meet standards fell in 18 events in the W-Club Invitational Track Meet at Nebraska Wesleyan's O.N. Magee Stadium.

Doane won the team title, scoring 113 points on eight first place finishes to lead Nebraska Wesleyan which finished with 88 points. Midland followed with 23, nipping Concordia for third place. Concordia totaled 22½, Dana picked up 12½, and John F. Kennedy College of Wahoo had four.

Meet records fell in eight of the 11 track events and five of the seven field events.

Wesleyan sprint ace Tom Bassett led the record-breaking parade, establishing a new 220 mark with a :21.1 clocking in the afternoon's preliminaries, and lowering the 100-yard dash standard to :09.7, one-tenth of a second faster than the old mark which he shared with Doane's Clint Skinner.

Bassett was the only athlete to set more than one record, but two others were double winners.

Bassett's teammate, distance man Jim Comstock took both the mile and the two-mile events, clipping over two seconds off Dennis Dondlinger's old mile record with a 4:22 time. Dondlinger of Doane finished second in that event.

Doane's Loren Coate was the other double winner, taking firsts in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Doane's Rick Bush raised the pole vault record to 14-2¾, breaking Wesleyan's Mike Knaub's year-old standard by one-half inch. Bush raised the bar to 14-6, trying to add extra inches to his record, but failed in three attempts at that height.

All three relay records were revised. Doane came in with a 3:21.1 clocking in the mile baton race to chip better than a second off the old mark.

Midland lowered its own two-mile relay record with an 8:02.5 time and Nebraska Wesleyan established a 440-yard relay record to shoot at with a :43.2 time. The 440 relay is a new event this year, replacing the 880-yard event.

Dave Newlon cracked his own javelin mark with a heave of 196-8½. The toss was good enough to top the 192-2¾ mark he set last year but still under his 200-plus performances of recent weeks.

Other meet records to fall were in the 440 and 880-yard runs, the shot put, discus, and the triple jump.

LSE Gains Spot In Baseball Meet

. . . PIUS BLANKED, 5-0

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Late-blooming Lincoln Southeast will be the Capital City entry in the state high school Class A baseball tournament.

The Knights backed Steve Mitchell's two-hit pitching with a 10-hit attack and a 5-0 triumph over Pius X in the district finals at Sherman Field Tuesday afternoon.

Southeast will carry only a 4-5 record into the state tourney, but the Knights have generated momentum by taking four of their last five decisions.

"I think we came around a little slow because Tom Tidball was the only regular we had back," notes coach Charley Gordon.

Just as they had done in an opening round win over Northeast the Knights wasted little time in taking command against Pius X.

Dick Hawley opened the game with a walk, then stole both second and third base before scoring on catcher Tom Kos' single off loser Gene Witkowicz.

The Knights did little wrong after that.

Hawley terrorized the Thunderbolts with a base-running spree which netted five steals.

And the winners collected at least one hit in every inning. Leading the attack was first baseman Jim Deitemeyer, who had three hits in four trips. Kos had a pair and five others joined the hit parade.

Mitchell, staked to the early lead, was in trouble in only the fourth inning in fashioning his shutout.

He hit Dana Stephenson, got Mike Bohaty to fly out, then walked John McEniry. The runners moved around as Dick Burke grounded out, then Mitchell escaped by getting John Hadwick to bounce back to the mound.

The righthander struck out ten as he got credit for his second tourney win.

The Knights got to starter Witkowicz and reliever McEniry for five hits apiece.

The state meet opens Monday at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha with the Knights meeting Tech in the 6 p.m. opener. Benson and Bellevue meet in the second game.

NAIA Area Baseballers Battle Today

Omaha (AP)—Dana College of Blair and Emporia State of Kansas will open the NAIA South Area 3 baseball play offs Wednesday.

The University of Omaha and Kansas Wesleyan will play the second game of the afternoon round. Losers will play at 6 p.m. and winners at 8:30 p.m.

Finals are scheduled Thursday though double elimination play could require one game on Friday

Winner of the south area playoff will meet the winner from the north area—Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota—in the Area 3 tournament in Omaha May 27-28.

The area winner will play in the St. Joseph, Mo., NAIA finals June 6-10.

The District 11 baseball committee picked the two Nebraska representatives.

Track Entries Due May 23

Cozad—Entries for the 1966 Midstates Federation and Nebraska State Women's Track and Field Championships, to be held here May 30, are to be postmarked by midnight May 23.

The meet will draw athletes from Wyoming, Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota, Iowa and Colorado and is sanctioned the United States Track and Field Federation.

Boys 19 years old and younger will compete in the junior division if not affiliated with a college or university. The women's competition has no age limit.

City Diving Classes Set

The City Recreation Department will start a diving instruction program this summer.

Estel Mills, an all-American diver at the University of Iowa and currently the diving coach at the University of Nebraska, will teach the four two-week courses at four pools around the city.

Classes begin June 27, July 11, July 25 and August 22. Registration dates are June 9 and July 5 at the recreation department. There will be a limit of five persons to a class.

Mills, 29, has a long list of coaching experience. He prepared the Austrian diving team for the 1964 Olympics, coached at both Nebraska and Iowa, and served as an instructor in several private clubs on the east coast.

As a competitive diver, Mills was all-America in 1958 and 1959, won the NATO Military Springboard Championships in 1960 and 1961 and was the International Springboard Champion in 1961.

NU Inks Arkansan

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney said Tuesday that Ben Feland, 6-0, 195 pounds, all-state tackle at Fort Smith, Ark., St. Anne's Academy, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at Nebraska. Devaney is on a recruiting trip in the Southwest.

Four Lincolnites Among Early NU Football Signers

Nebraska football coaches were deployed from one end of the country to the other Tuesday to obtain national letter of intent signings from prospective players.

The early signers included four Lincoln high school players—Paul Topliff of Lincoln Northeast and Mike Bohaty, Kim Wheeler and Dana Stephenson of Lincoln Pius X. They were signed by former Husker backfield ace Warren Powers, who has been helping with the spring football practice.

Also working on prospective Nebraska signers were Clete Fischer, Monte Kifin and Tom Osborne.

Head coach Bob Devaney was working the Texas and Kansas area; George Kelly, Wisconsin and Ilinois; Carl Selmer, Iowa and Minesota; Mike Corgan, Michigan; John Melton, Pensylvania, and Jim Ross, California and Utah.

Rookie Glen Beckert hit in 14 straight games for the Chicago Cubs last season. He hit .239 for the season.

—DISTRICT WINNERS LEAD LIST—

Four Primary Contenders Seen In Class B Picture

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Gothenburg, Ord, Gering and Hebron—district winners last week—top the field of entries in the 1966 Class B state high school track championships.

The four primary contenders were the only teams qualifying in 10 or more events in district action. Gothenburg and Ord each have 12 entries and Hebron and Gering 10 each for the competition which opens Friday at Foster Field in Kearney.

Each of the leaders boasts a solid claim for the trip to the top. Aurora, the defending champion, earned nine qualifying spots, but doesn't appear to have the blue ribbon power needed to repeat.

Gering, the western power, returns to Class B this year after spending last season in Class A. Two years ago the Buldogs were runners-up in Class B and they figure to make a strong bid again this season.

Versatile, Larry Rice, entered in the broad jump, high jump and high hurdles, heads the Gering entries. Dan Babbitt, a member of the two-mile relay quartet which won the Class A title last year, is in the open 880 this year and posted a narrow win over two-time state champ Roger Schmidt of Bridgeport in district action.

Sprinter Dick Rubottom is another solid contender and the Bulldogs have a pair of fine relay teams entered.

Gothenburg, always among the leaders in the Class B race, has a well-balanced outfit capable of scoring in just about any event.

Sprinter Doug Swanson, pole vaulter Matt Williams and weight man Dode Haynes join veteran half-miler Curt Carskadon as the prime scoring threats. Carskadon, who has a 1:58.3 to his credit this year, ran third in last year's swift 880 race.

Ord bases its hopes on a top sprint-hurdles corps. Rick Dunbar ranks as the hurdles favorite and Bob Pierce figures prominently in the 440. Dave Van Nordheim's Chanticleers also have three relay teams entered, the best of which should be the 880 quartet as three Ord runners earned state meet berths in the open 220.

Hebron, third in Class C a year ago, moves back up with a strong lineup. Heading the list of Hebron hustlers is Ron Lange, who posted district-leading marks in both the 100 and 440. Another district pacesetter was miler Larry Kassebaum, who owns the division's best clocking (4:27.7) this spring.

Adding to the Hebron punch is Tracy Long, who won the Class C 880 as a sophomore last year. He's also a threat in the broad jump, his 21-9¼ being the best mark owned by a Class B jumper this year.

Should the "big four" falter, Aurora, Lexington, Ainsworth and Kimball could move higher in the championship race.

Aurora's top hand is sprinter John Henthorne, defending champ in the 220.

Miler Tom Housel heads the Lexington entry list with vaulter Scott Washington the best Ainsworth entry. Kimball places its hopes on sprinter Steve Johnson, who has established himself as a top candidate in the 100 and 220.

Henthorne and Schmidt are the only defending champions returning, but there are state meet scorers returning in all events but the pole vault.

Barber Has Top PGA Qualifying Round Tuesday

New Orleans (AP) — Miller Barber, a veteran pro, led in the qualifying round Tuesday for the PGA 50th Anniversary Tournament later this summer at Akron, Ohio.

Barber had rounds of 66-68-134 and won one of the five PGA births.

Other qualifiers were Lary Beck-70-70-140; Dean Refram—71-60-140; Harold Kneece—70-71-141; and Wayne Yates—71-70-141.

Among those failing to qualify were Charlie Sifford, Bert Weaver, Dave Ragan and Rex Baxter.

Gogolak Leaves AFL, Inks With NY Giants

Washington (AP) — Pete Gogolak, the Hungarian soccer-style place kicker who played out his option with Buffalo in the American Football League, signed Tuesday with the New York Giants of the National Football League in a move that may bring war between the rival pro leagues.

The former Cornell kicker, who set records at Buffalo with 28 field goals, refused to sign with the Bills in 1965, played out his option and became a free agent May 1.

Permits Required For Teal Hunting

Special permits for the 1966 experimental teal season are free, but hunters must apply for them.

The Game Commission reminds gunners that they must have a special permit to hunt teal. The special, nine-day season on blue-winged, green-winged, and cinamon-head teal was initiated last year in the Central and Mississippi flyways. It runs from Sept. 3-11. Bag and possession limits are four and eight respectively. A federal Migratory Waterfowl Stamp is required.

Applications are being accepted now by the Game Commission. However, permits will not be mailed until after June 1. Applicants should include their name, address, and county of residence. Post cards are prefered in making application, since they speed processing.

Stay Granted In Braves Case

Milwaukee (AP)—The court order directing the National League to guarantee Milwaukee an expansion team next year or return the Braves from Atlanta was stayed Tuesday pending an appeal to the Wisconsin Supreme Court

Circuit Judge Elmer W Roller, who found that baseball violated Wisconsin's antitrust law by stripping Milwaukee of its only major league franchise, stayed the order which had set Wednesday as the deadline for the Braves' return, but he rejected a motion for a new trial.

He ordered the defendant senior circuit and its members to post a $100,000 surety bond to cover interim costs if the state supreme court upholds his decision against baseball. Judge Roller said the matter of additional bond would be up to the high court after June 9.

Wide-Open Scramble Likely In Class C Prep Track Meet

. . . BASSETT LEADS IN QUALIFIERS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

A wide-open scramble is forecast as the state's top Class C athletes compete for the Nebraska high school track and field championship at Kearney this weekend.

As usual, Grant and Bayard figure in the title picture, but there is a handful of outsiders with well-founded hopes of ending the domination of the division by these two western schools.

Bayard was champion a year ago and runnerup in 1964. Grant claimed the team titles in 1963 and 1964 and ran second a year ago.

The outlook in the team race this year is for a finish much like in 1963 and 1964, in which case Grant could return to the throne. Bill Ramsay's Plainsmen won with just 14 points in 1963 and had just 18 in 1964.

Several teams appear capable of scoring in this range, but there is none threatening the 29-point production of Bayard last year.

The sprint competition should be the feature of the Class C meet with one of the best-matched fields of dashmen ever assembled in the division ready for action.

The lineup in the 100 includes Bertrand's Roger Sand, who owns a best of :09.9, and a solid cast of :10.0 men. Henderson's Ken Janzen, Hay Springs' Doug Marcy, Fullerton's Rich Rech, Wauneta's Larry Kitt and Ceresco's Bill Thompson, have posted identical :10.0 marks.

Janzen, a photo-finish winner in the dashes at the Kearney Invitational field which included Sand, Kitt, Grant's swift Marlin Terwilliger and defending 440 champ Mick Jeffery of Sumner, rules as a slight favorite

Rech, who had the best sprint marks in district competition, and teammate Jeff Keller, the shot put favorite, hope to put Fullerton on top in the team race.

Bayard has only four qualifying berths, but had a pair of district leaders in 440 vet Tim Pfenning and discus ace Keith Frakes.

Grant's chief hopes are miler Cliff Colglazier, a heavy favorite, and broad jumper Terwilliger. The Plainsmen failed to qualify a relay team, and must count on scraping together some points in the hurdles if they figure to remain in contention.

The meet darkhorse is Franklin, third behind Grant and Cambridge in the Kearney Invitational. The Flyers have a good hurdler in Doug Carey—and got a pair of district leading performances from Kim Naden. By repeating his broad jump and 880 marks this weekend he could boost the Flyers to the title.

Cambridge, third behind Wauneta and Bertrand in district competition at North Platte, has the division's top hurdler in Larry Ommert.

Wauneta will depend on Kitt, miler Jack Fanning, hurdler Larry Channel and a swift 880 relay team.

Sand, runnerup in the pole vault a year ago, is the key to Bertrand's bid, having qualified in the 100, vault and broad jump.

Ceresco, best of the eastern entries, has solid contenders in vaulter Dennis Ferry and discus tosser Ron Poskochil. If Thompson can break into the scoring the talented sprint field, the Eagles could make a strong title bid. But like Grant, the Eagles failed to qualify a relay team.

The only other returning champion in addition to Marcy and Jeffery is Battle Creek high jumper Terry Wegener. There are scorers from the 1965 meet returning in all individual events but the 880.

Early Rally Stalls In Stock Market

New York (AP)—A lively rally got started Tuesday morning in the stock market but it stalled after about two hours and the list sagged to another loss. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 9.87 million shares compared with 9.27 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which was up 3.90 at noon, ended with a decline of 3.39 at 864.14.

The advance began to lose its steam just after news came over the wires that the Gemini 9 space mission had been spoiled by failure of an Agena satellite to achieve orbit. Market analysts declined to say that it was the Gemini scrub which caused the market to reverse itself, but some labeled it as "an excuse" for selling.

The statistics gave a top-heavy verdict to the downside. Of 1,447 issues traded, 1,000 declined and 230 advanced. Lows for the year totaled 519 and highs three.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.7 to 313.7 with industrials off 3.3, rails off 2.4 and utilities .9. The overall average and each of the components were again down to new lows for the year.

The market rose in early trading despite Boeing's weakness which was linked with a mishap to one of its airliners while taking off from Kansas City. The stock had cut a 4-point loss to a point, however, when market began reversing itself. Boeing ended with a loss of 7⅜.

The Boeing 720 belonged to Continental Airlines and its stock lost 1⅝ as one of the day's volume leaders.

Pan American world airways was the most-active stock, off ⅛ at 58½ on 189,300 shares.

Among other airlines, Eastern lost 4⅞, United 2⅛, American 1⅛, Braniff 9⅞ and Northwest 6⅛. National lost 3 despite record profits in April.

Eleven of the 15 most-active stocks were lowers, 3 rose and American Telephone was unchanged.

General Motors, holding a gain of ⅝ from an earlier rise exceeding a point, was one of the winners; Polaroid gained 3¾ and Fairchild Camera 1½.

Xerox fell 12 points, Douglas Aircraft 3 Motorola 3¼, Admiral 7½, Radio Corp. 1⅛, IBM 3½, and Kennecott 4¾.

Erasing solid early gains, New York Central fell ¾ and Pennsylvania Railroad 1.

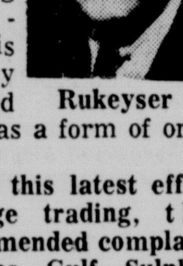
Prices fell on a broad front on the American Sotck Exchange.

Corporate bonds declined, U.S. Treasury bonds advanced.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

New Penalty Rules Against Speculations Curb Trading

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



Rukeyser

The recent diorderly stock markets, with dramatic fluctuations, followed shortly after imposition of new penalty rules against those who traded in and out in a single session.

Among "reformers" there is a tendency to regard speculation as a form of original sin.

On top of this latest effort to discourage trading, the SEC in an amended complaint in the Texas Gulf Sulphur case raised doubt as to the propriety of trading in a stock by insiders after the news has been published until after an indefinite waiting period which would give outsiders an opportunity to reflect on the impact of the newly revealed development on the value of security.

The air pockets disclosed in recent erratic trading seslsions dramatize the nature of free and orderly markets.

Rules to restrict short selling and in and out trading and support purchases by insiders tend to leave the market vulnerable to wide and unnecessary fluctuations, whenever the public is seized by a common emotion whether it be hope or fear.

Martyr To Progress

Instead of being a wicked guy, the speculator is frequently a martyr to progress. He steps in when bona fide investors at a transitional point may be aloof. In less regulated markets, the specialist in the stock, who keeps a book on the bids and offers, served an important role in maintaining orderly markets. He would himself for his own account supply bids in substantial quantities when none were on the books near the market and he at times would sell short when a flood of buying orders tended to outstrip the available supply of stock.

Now specialists are hamstrung by a variety of rules, and short selling can take place only on an up tick.

The in and out trader who, when restrained, temporarily provided order in the market instead of chaos, is now limited by harsh margin requirements.

The result has been unnecessarily wide swings in prices.

This technical discussion does not deal with the broader investment question of whether the level of stock prices is too high or otherwise. It treats only of the phase of orderly movement of prices up and down from one level to another.

The ambiguities of announcements from the auto industry added to the will to get rid of stocks.

Tend to Panic

Apparently superficial groups, without a bedrock of economic understanding, tend to get panicky whenever there is evidence that the national economy may not break records every month.

The excessively bullish have been psychologically deflated in part by the news that auto sales in April were below expectations (partly cause of congressional muckraking as to manufacturing standards in the making of cars.) Another bullish image—that of the favorite of mass investment AT&T—was tarnished a bit by the anoucement of an extended rate investigation by the FCC.

The market has been subjected to the tradition in Wall Street of finding a rationalization, however far fetched, for each movement.

Many myths are being tested. One was that the market can't have big declines because of the steady absorption of stocks by mutual funds, closed end investment companies, pension funds, colleges, universities, hospitals and trustees. This new institutional appreciation of common stocks for long term investment has made structural changes in markets, but this situation does not outlaw fluctuations. Institutions can contribute to weak stock prices by temporarily withdrawing bids for stocks at or near existing levels.

The psychology of markets must be grasped in light of the historical record that even in growing, dynamic America the national economy occasionally takes a step backwards before taking two steps forward.

It was sheer illusion to assume that growth stocks would rise uninterruptedly to the skies.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries with stamped self-addressed envelope concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Late Demand Boosts Grain Mart Prices

Chicago (AP)—A burst of late demand quickly drove some contracts into stop-loss buying in the grain futures market Tuesday and left them with broad advances and at their peaks of the day.

Old crop soybeans advanced almost 5 cents a bushel at the extreme and all deliveries of wheat moved up well over a cent. The expiring May deliveries of corn, oats and rye also finished in a firm range.

Wheat closed 1½-2½ cents a bushel higher, May $1.64¼; corn 1 cent higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.28⅛-¼; oats 1¼ higherto ⅛ lower, May 71¾-⅝ cents; rye ¼-½ higher, May $1.21½; soybeans ⅜-4⅞ higher, May $3.08-07⅞.

Kiwanis Awards 3 Scholarships To Local Students

Capital City Kiwanis Club has awarded three $200 scholarships in its annual program of encouraging advanced education among high school seniors.

Recipients for the 1966 awards are, Margaret M. Higgins, 2614 A St. Lincoln High School; Loretta Morton, 2957 North 70th, Lincoln Northeast; and Ron Bowlin, 1320 South 15th, Lincoln High School.

The scholarship winners were selected from 25 applicants representing Lincoln and Waverly High schools.

The scholarships can be applied to tuition at any university or college Presentation was made by Wes Furrer of 3875 Smith St., chairman of the Youth Activity Committee.

Mrs. Robertson Contests Colfax Assessor's Race

Schuyler (AP) — A hearing has been set in county court Thursday in connection with Mrs. Vera Robertson's petition contesting the outcome of the election for Colfax County assessor.

Mrs. Robertson, the incumbent, was defeated by one vote after the counting of mail votes. The apparent winner was Chester Guidinger.

Mrs. Robertson filed a petition contesting the election.

James Dick Wins Design Contest

James Dick of Lincoln, University of Nebraska architecture student, was named first place winner Tuesday in the annual Nebraska Concrete Masonry Association awards for design. He will receive a $150 scholarship.

A second place $100 scholarship was awarded to Norman Ochsner of Norfolk, and third place and a $50 scholarship went to Marc Ruetter of Wauneta.

The competition involved the design of a beach house.

Strike Hobbles France, Ups Pressure On Paris

Paris (AP) — A nationwide public services strike stalled much of the French economy Tuesday and brought intensified pressure on the government to lift its anti-inflation lid.

The strike, one of the biggest one-day walkouts since the war, directly affected at least five million workers. Many of the other 50 million Frenchmen were inconvenienced.

In the capital, there were no morning or afternoon newspapers, as printers went on one of their rare strikes.

Marching Around

During the day hundreds of thousands of idled workers held public meetings and marched through towns and cities waving banners calling for higher wages, shorter working hours and fringe benefits.

The most spectacular strike parade was in central Paris, where thousands of strikers marched. Police estimated the throng at 30,000, union leaders 70,000.

The most spectacular effects of the strike were almost general cuts in electricity and a sharp lowering of gas pressure.

Streets Littered

Many streets were garbage-littered since no one picked up the trash.

Transport also was hard hit, with many long line trains and Paris suburban and subway trains halted. In Paris, army trucks were pressed into service for commuters.

The strikers are seeking a minimum wage of 600 francs ($120) a month, a 40-hour week, better pension benefits and other advantages.

The government fears dangerous inflation if it gives in to the demands.

National Folk Unit Gives Ives Award To Miss DeRyke

Miss DeLores DeRyke, of Lincoln, has been awarded the Burl Ives Award at the 1966 National Folk Festival held in Denver, Colo., May 5-7.

Miss DeRyke, who is the founder of both a state and a national organization for "old time fiddlers", was presented with the award by Arthur L. Campa, president of the National Folk Festival Association, for her outstanding contribution in the authentic folk music field.

Scotts Bluff To Protest Property Valuation Hike

Scottsbluff (AP) — The Scotts Bluff County Board of Supervisors decided to send a protest to Tax Commissioner George Dworak on the 6% urban and 17% rural property valuation increases ordered by the State Board of Equalization.

The board acted after 88 property owners urged that a protest be lodged.

War Chief's Road Clear In Brazil

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — The war minister, Gen. Arthur da Costa e Silva, seems to have no obstacles before him in his bid to become president.

He is the official candidate of the government's National Renewal Alliance Party. President Humberto Castello Branco told party leaders last week that he considered Costa e Silva eminently qualified for the job.

Before that, many political observers had thought the president might try to torpedo his old friend and military academy classmate. Confidantes of the president thought he preferred to be succeeded by a civilian, to avoid giving the impression of military dominance over political institutions.

Retired Marshal

Castello Branco, who became president in April 1964 after the overthrow of the Joao Goulart government, is a retired army marshal.

As his party's candidate, Costa e Silva will have the backing of two thirds of congress which will elect the next president and vice president Oct. 3. The opposition Brazilian Democratic Movement, outnumbered about 2 to 1, has not picked a candidate.

Costa e Silva and his vice presidential running mate, Education Minister Pedro Alexio, won the unanimous endorsement of their party's national directorate after an informal polling of political leaders throughout Brazil's 22 states.

Their candidacies are scheduled to be formally ratified by a convention May 26.

Helped Overthrow

Costa e Silva was one of the men who helped overthrow Goulart and put Castello Branco in power. He announced his candidacy early in January. For a time there was speculation that he might run as an opposition candidate.

Later he publicly endorsed the Castello Branco government's economic program. Castello Branco remained publicly silent until last week when a delegation of party chieftains formally told him of their decision to run the Costa e Silva-Aleixo ticket.

Unless Costa e Silva commits some grievious political error he'll be elected president on his 64th birthday, and inaugurated March 15.

Nebraskans At Conference On Elderly Projects

Washington (AP) — A delegation associated with Nebraska's Advisory Committee on Aging is attending a conference here to get information about federal resources that may be extended to the elderly in the state.

John R. Carson, Lincoln, spoke Tuesday at the weekly Nebraska congressional delegation breakfast, of the group's activites.

Everett P. Phillips of Grand Island said they are sponsored by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, at the request of Nebraska's governor.

Dr. R. G. Osborn, clinical director of Norfolk State Hospital, said the delegation was learning about the federal program as it affects the state.

Planning, Zoning Unit's 1st Annual Meeting Saturday

Kearney (AP) — The first annual meeting of the Nebraska Planning and Zoning Association will be held in Kearney Saturday.

The association, headed by Bill V. Dawson of Nebraska City, had been established for the purpose of providing assistance to planning commissions, conducting planning educational programs, ad providing a means of exchange and dissimulation of planning information among persons and agencies involved and concerned with comprehensive planning.

Car-Motorcycle Mishap Injures Lincoln Man, 21

Thomas S. Nickerson, 21, of 1545 E. Manor Dr., was listed in fair condition in Bryan Memorial Hospital where he was taken Monday for treatment of injuries he suffered in a car-motorcycle mishap at 50th and Randolph.

Nickerson suffered a broken left arm, left leg and jaw in the mishap, a spokesman at Bryan Memorial Hospital said. Driver of the car involved was William R. Hite, 38, of 1620 G, police said.

2 Negro Groups Violent After Protest At Station

Los Angeles (AP)—Two small bands of angry Negroes engaged in violence on the streets of South Los Angeles Tuesday night after a demonstration in front of a police station. Officers reported scattered gunshots at police, but no immediate word of casualties.

One group attacked two white men, one of whom was identified as Karl Fleming, 38, Los Angeles Bureau manager for Newsweek magazine.

The other group of about 25 Negro youths broke a window of a liquor store and escaped with several bottles of liquor and some food.

Policeman to Rescue

Police Officer W. A. Payne, 30, a Negro, said he saw about 20 Negro youths attack Fleming and the other white man, throwing Fleming to the ground, kicking him and beating him with boards.

Payne said he rushed at the group, shouting, "Hey, brothers! That's enough! Leave him alone!"

Payne, a plainclothesman, said he knelt beside the fallen man and the other pleaded, "Please don't hit him again." Payne then identified himself as a policeman.

Fleming was taken to a nearby hospital, where he was said to be in good condition.

Protesting Death

Officers said the groups began coursing the streets after about 500 persons appeared in front of the police station in a protest demonstration, which protested the death of Leonard Deadwyler, a Negro, last May 7.

Deadwyler, 25, was shot by a police officer as he was speeding with his pregnant wife toward a local hospital.

The officer, J. M. Bova, has said his pistol discharged accidentally, fatally wounding Deadwyler, when he tried to grab Deadwyler's ignition keys and Deadwyler's car suddenly began moving.

The widow, Barbara Deadwyler, also 25, has disputed Bova's version of the incident, saying Bova stopped their car and shot her husband without questioning Deadwyler. She said her husband was rushing to the hospital because they thought her baby, due next month, was coming prematurely.

Man Charged For Old Baker Home Shots

Selma, Ala. (AP)—Police arrested a man Tuesday night in connection with the firing of three shots into the former residence of Wilson Baker.

Asst. Police Chief Nolan Chambers identified the man as William W. Kilgore and said he is charged with assault with intent to murder and shooting into an occupied dwelling. The house is now the residence of W. T. Lockett, a postal employe.

Police theorize the shots Sunday night were fired because the residence is still listed in official directories as belonging to Baker, a candidate in a disputed election for the Democratic nomination for Dallas County sheriff. No one was injured by the gunfire.

Sioux Falls Lady Sues Local Store For Fall In 1965

A Sioux Falls, S.D., woman Tuesday filed a $75,000 damage suit in U.S. District Court here against a Lincoln department store for injuries allegedly suffered in a fall on March 22, 1965.

Edith B. Alcorn asked Judge Robert Van Pelt to order a trial.

The suit alleged negligence on the part of the Miller and Paine Co. It claimed the store maintained a slippery floor and failed to warn patrons of the danger.

Mrs. Alcorn said she suffered a broken arm, cuts, bruises, contusions and lacerations as a result of the fall.

MOVING. MUST SELL AT ONCE. You must see to believe. A famous place in Nebraska. Three National authorities have said "It's out of this world." "The most beautiful place in the Midwest including Colorado," "I've traveled all the rivers in the world and never seen so beautiful sight from any." 80 acres, 2 houses—1 new and with perhaps more modern features, indoor & outdoor, than any house in Nebraska. And the most beautiful view. The other a little older but renovated last year in fashion similar to a new house. Three parts of this land; 1 tillable farm area, 1 Nebraska's largest, young apple orchard with similarly beautiful home building site, and 4,000 apple trees. All have pastures & horse care & riding facilities. Includes all machinery necessary, all horse equipment, 3 corals, riding area, 2 wells, white board fencing, lake, irrigation facilities, many extra buildings & resources and many other fruit, pine, oak, elm & nut trees, & flowers & shrubs throughout. Will sell buy 3rds or totals, all under appraised value. Open house anytime but Monday morning. 30 minutes South of Omaha, 40 minutes East of Lincoln, all borders Hwys. 73-75. Has improved roads on land. Call Union, Nebr. 263-3315. 18

Hruska For Crime War Escalation

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, ranking Republican member of the new Senate crime sub-committee, urged Tuesday that "the same kind of research techniques, priorities and talents now devoted to defense, space and medicine" be used on the crime problem.

Serious crime in America has increased more than 60% since 1958, the senator told about 150 delegates to the National Association of Attorneys General convention, which opened a four-day meeting Monday.

"These statistics stand as an eloquent testimony to the thousands of lives wasted and broken by crime and the billions of dollars taken in its wake—more than $27 billion in 1964," the Omaha legislator said.

"There has been no attempt to identify, much less analyze, the 'crime system'," Hruska said. He added that attempts to bring modern technology to bear on the crime problem have been too fragmented.

"A modest start has been made by naming a scientific advisory task force to assist the Department of Justice and the President's Crime Commission," Hruska said.

Hruska also voiced criticism of "certain U.S. Supreme Court decisions which have allowed convicted criminals to go free, imposed severe restraints on police procedures, and cast doubt on the admissibility of statements taken after arrests."

Prior to Hruska's luncheon speech the attorneys general, representing all 50 states, divided into nine panel groups.

One panel speaker, Attorney General David P. Buckson of Delaware, recommended that all states adopt a witness immunity law similar to one now before the General Assembly of Delaware.

Under Buckson's proposal each state would agree not to prosecute a witness on the basis of testimony given under immunity in another state. He said 18 states have specialized witness immunity statutes and seven have general immunity statutes of the type he recommended.

'Cost Of Great School Might Shock People'

The president of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents said Tuesday the cost of operating a great university will cost the state plenty of money.

"The state may have the greatest shock it has ever experienced when it sees the five-year projection for the cost of a great university," Clarence E. Swanson of Lincoln said.

Swanson commented at a meeting of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of University professors.

He said after the school's six-year building program is completed, plans must begin to build a faculty to teach 25,000 students by 1971.

Swanson was hopeful that enrollment would level off in the early 1970s. But, he added, if this is not the case, "The state will have to provide for students' education somewhere else."

He said generally state officials have a real appreciation of the needs of the University.

What it boils down to, Swanson asserted, "is what the people of Nebraska want."

Senator Curtis Claims Economy

Washington (UPI) — The office of Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., claimed Tuesday the senator is economy-minded.

It said during his 11 years in the Senate through 1965, Curtis returned to the federal treasury $285,719 in unused tax funds for operating his office.
